ARMY QUELLS DETROIT RIOT

Negro's Car Wrecked In Detroit Rioting That Cost 23 Lives

Steel-helmeted troops today had brought peace to riot-ravaged Detroit after 23 persons—20 of them Negroes—had been killed and 700 injured in scenes like the two above. At left, rioters overturn a Negro's car. Right, the same car is reduced to blazing wreckage. The race battles which raged through Detroit streets until Pvt. Roosevelt ordered in the army began Sunday at midnight and continued throughout yesterday despite all efforts of city police and state militia to bring order. The U. S. troops carried machine guns with orders to "use them if necessary."

23 Killed, 700 Injured During Street Battles

1,300 Arrested In Day Of Looting And Fighting; Steel-Helmeted Troops Restore Order, Patrol Transportation System.

BULLETIN

DETROIT — (INS) — The twilight baseball game between the Detroit Tigers and the Cleveland Indians was ordered cancelled today by Superintendent Louis Berg of the Detroit police department, to prevent any further outbreak of rioting.

(By Associated Press)

DETROIT—An army-enforced peace settled upon riot-torn Detroit today with the guns of the military in grim command of the areas where racial fights had spread death, terror and destruction.

Ordered by President Roosevelt in a formal proclamation to desist, and with steel-helmeted federal troops supporting his command, white and Negro antagonists skulked into hiding after having caused the deaths of 23 persons—20 of them Negroes—during a calamitous day and night.

At least seven hundred persons were injured and approximately 1,300 arrested and still held this morning. Of the total under arrest police estimated about 85 per cent were Negroes.

On streets where the blood of both Negro and white had run, 1,100 soldiers marched in patrol to assist the state militia, state police and city police. Early today authorities said conditions were "quiet."

The troops, rolling up in trucks and jeeps and armed with rifles and machine guns, reached Cadillac Square, heart of the city, an hour before midnight. Word of their arrival spread quickly. Within 30 minutes, police said, the situation had much improved.

By midnight the situation seemed under full control.

A related incident which occurred at the Fort Custer, Mich., army post last night was revealed today in a statement released by Col. Ralph Wiltamuth, post commander.

"Members of one of the Negro quartermaster battalions," the statement said, "attempted to secure arms and trucks at Fort Custer Monday night, but were promptly arrested. The men had become restless over the disturbance in Detroit and wanted to go to assist their families. Prompt action by military authorities quickly restored order. Five men were confined in the post stockade awaiting investigation."

President Roosevelt ordered "all persons engaged in unlawful and insurrectionary proceedings" retire peaceably to their homes. He called on "all good citizens" to "uphold the laws and preserve the public peace."

At 2 a. m. (EWT) Brig. Gen. William Guthner of the Sixth Service command, in charge of the troops, reported no further serious trouble.

General Guthner disclosed soldier forces would be amplified

U. S. Bombers Join Smashing Ruhr Raids

Fresh Invasion Fears Hit Axis

Huge Fleets Of Yank, British Planes Begin Full-Scale Air Offensive Against Italian Mainland.

(By Associated Press)

American daylight raiders smashed at Germany's vital foundries in the Ruhr for the first time in the war today and pounded targets in Nazi-occupied Belgium within a few hours after RAF blockbuster planes delivered a shattering assault on the Rhineland city of Krefeld.

More than 700 RAF bombers raided Krefeld.

Coincidentally, fresh Axis invasion alarms rang across Europe, and in Washington Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox told a press conference that preparations for an Allied grand assault on Europe were moving "right along."

"Obviously, we can't talk in specific terms."

London quarters said a big force of U. S. bombers attacked the Ruhr, production center of three-fourths of Germany's coal and two-thirds of her iron and steel.

American, RAF and Allied fighter squadrons supported the attack.

In the Mediterranean, tremendous fleets of American and Allied planes opened a full-scale offensive against the Italian mainland, showering many hundrens of tons of high explosives over a wide expanse from Naples to the southernmost tip of the peninsula.

Dispatches said 25 great fires were left blazing in the port of Naples and nearby Cancello. A single fire covered an area a mile in diameter.

A Rome broadcast admitted "considerable damage" as the Allied pre-invasion barrage shifted from Italy's island outposts to the mainland.

Meanwhile, Axis invasion fears were reflected anew in a Berlin broadcast reporting that Allied troops, landing craft and "a major parachute force" were massing for the assault on southern Europe.

Underground (patriot) forces in France received an Allied signal to "be ready to act any moment henceforth"—a broadcast made in the name of the "inter-Allied high command"—and London heard that German troop strength in France had been raised from 35 to 41 divisions, a total of about 650,000 soldiers.

Other reports said the Germans were feverishly strengthening anti-invasion defenses from the French Mediterranean coast to the Balkans.

Today, incidentally, was "der tag" named several weeks ago by the Germans for an Allied invasion of Europe.

During the night, German raiders dropped bombs at scattered points in the greater London area and touched off two alarms in the capital, but little damage was reported.

Forty-four RAF bombers were listed as missing in the attack on Krefeld (Pop. 170,000)—the second night raid in a row on

Reds Claim Nazis Lose 6 Million, Ask New Front

(By United Press)

MOSCOW—Russia, making its strongest plea yet for the early opening of a second front, said today that a successful Anglo-American invasion of Europe not only was necessary for victory, but could bring the war to a speedy conclusion."

The official Soviet information bureau said the Red army already had "fundamentally shattered" the military power of Germany by inflicting these "enormous" losses on Germany and her satellites in the past two years:

6,400,000 officers and men killed or captured.

56,500 guns of various calibers destroyed or captured.

42,400 tanks destroyed or captured.

43,000 aircraft shot down, destroyed on the ground or captured.

Russian losses for two-year period were listed as 4,200,000 men killed or missing and 35,000 guns, 30,000 tanks and 23,000 aircraft lost.

"Everything now depends on the manner in which our Allies will exploit the favorable situation for creating a second front in Europe, as victory over Hitlerite Germany is impossible without a second front," the bureau statement said.

The statement said that the alliance among Russia, Britain and the United States was growing stronger as the war progressed.

The might of the Red army itself has grown into a "dread power tempered in battle," the statement said, and is burning with a desire to finish off the Fascist beast."

By contrast, Germany has deteriorated sharply both militarily and politically, the Soviets said.

Militarily, the statement said, the Germans have lost the greater part of their cadre division and most of their high-ranking officers as well as the greater part of the equipment on which they were counting to seize the sovereignty of the world.

"These losses fundamentally undermined the German war ma-

FATHER CALL TO COME LAST

McNutt Says Dads Won't Be Drafted Till Other Sources Are Exhausted.

(By United Press)

COLUMBUS—Fathers will be called for military service only when "every last alternative" has been exhausted Wai Manpower Commissioner Paul V. McNutt said today, but he could not predict when that step would become necessary.

In a speech read for him at the 35th annual governors conference, McNutt said that "arithmetic sets the date" when fathers will be taken and that although the month had been pushed back, "we cannot yet say how far."

McNutt said the fortunes of war, the lowering of physical standards and taking of older men affect the date when fathers will be called.

"We can make only this much clear," he said. "When there are not any more single men to be had who can properly be spared from vital occupations fathers will of course be taken. When that time comes it will not be a decision of policy, it will be a decision of arithmetic."

He said the policy of the commission was to put every man and woman in the place where he or she can help most in the war effort and he foresaw by July 1 of 1944 a force of 61,...,000 persons in civilian and military service.

Another 1,300,000 workers will

Takes Steps For Post-War School Building Program

Authorized last month by the Mansfield board of education, a survey of the city's elementary school building needs with a view to a post-war building program will be conducted next fall, Supt. of Schools W. L. Miller told the board at its meeting last night.

The survey will be made by Dr. T. C. Holy of the Ohio State University research bureau who made the survey that led to the construction of the John Simpson and Johnny Appleseed junior high schools. Dr. Holy said he would submit an estimate of the cost of the survey to the board later in the summer.

DAYTON—(INS)—Pvt. James W. Gillespie, 27, a Japanese prisoner since May 6, 1942, died in the Philippines Wednesday, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Gillespie reported today.

The information came from the war department, which said it was so advised by the Japanese government through the American Red Cross.

Coal Strike Starts to Choke War Industries

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON—(AP)—John L. Lewis and Secretary Ickes conferred again today on the coal controversy even as the War Labor Board was disclosed to be calling for White House intervention.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—Direct action by the White House was viewed today as possible within 48 hours unless the nation's 521,000 striking coal miners return to work before then.

Their latest walkout, third in seven weeks, has already begun to choke the war-vital steel industry; coke production was cut in Alabama and Pennsylvania, some blast furnaces were being prepared to shut down and officials pictured the industry as close to the bottom of the bin in coal supplies.

Without presidential intervention, the only hopeful sign in the troubled coal situation was a series of conferences between Interior Secretary Ickes, government operator of the mines, and John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers (UMW). They met yesterday, kept silent about what was discussed, and gave out only that the talks were continuing today.

Here was the situation in the coal fields:

Pennsylvania—117,000 soft coal miners and 83,000 anthracite workers were idle in a complete shutdown. Carnegie-Illinois Steel said part of its Pittsburgh coke ovens were banked already, and was preparing to shut down some blast furnaces.

West Virginia—All the 130,000 bituminous miners on strike.

Kentucky—47,000 miners out, closing 200 mines. Still working

'NUMBERS' HIT

Bricker Signs Bill Providing Penalties For Racket.

COLUMBUS (AP)—Gov. John W. Bricker today signed the "numbers" bill providing prison sentences and heavy fines for persons convicted of furthering numbers rackets.

The new law will become effective 90 days after filing with the secretary of state, probably within a day or so.

Sellers, solicitors and pickup men in the numbers racket would be subject on first conviction to a fine of $500 and six months imprisonment, and on second conviction to a fine of $1,000 and penitentiary sentence of one to three years.

Promoters of the numbers rackets would be subject on first conviction, to a fine of $500 to $1,000 and penitentiary sentence of one to seven years.

Woman Finds $30 In Quilt She Bought For 50 Cents.

CLEVELAND—(U.P.)—Last week Mrs. Josephine Kostka bought a second-hand quilt from Goodwill Industries for 50 cents.

Today she started to sew up a tear when she discovered three $10 bills, one dated 1880 and two dated 1891, sewed inside.

CRASH KILLS OHIOAN

WAUSEON — (INS) — Capt. Charles E. Dimke, of Wauseon, was killed Saturday in the crash of a medium bomber near Miami, Fla., his relatives were informed today.

EAST SIDE GETS $6,332 PRESENT

'Paid' Sewer Rental Bills To Be Mailed Soon Under Remittal Plan.

Residents of the east side of Mansfield will receive a $6,332 gift within a few days in the form of city sewer rental bills which will be stamped "remitted" before they are mailed to subscribers.

Bills covering the sewer rental for the first half of the year and payable July 1 had been prepared today under the ordinance passed recently by city council, forgiving the charge for the half-year period to reduce the growing surplus in the sewer fund.

Stamped across the bills were these words: "This sewer charge remitted and forgiven this time only."

Residents of the west side of the city will receive similar bills later in the summer.

Council's recent action in cancelling the half-year sewer rental was taken at the recommendation of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce and the county Republican executive committee. The Chamber of Commerce reported in its survey of city operations that the sewer charge remittal was one of the fairest ways of returning a part of the city surplus to taxpayers.

BRAND LEWIS AS 'TRAITOR'

Mine Leader 'Playing Hitler Game,' Speakers Charge; Food Drive Starts.

Asserting that John L. Lewis is not a true representative of labor, two district CIO leaders, speaking last night at a rally at the Park theater, called the shaggy-browed [illegible] head a "traitor who is playing the game of Hitler to disrupt American unity."

Severest critic of Lewis was Mrs. Nellie Lederman, Cleveland, district education director of the United Rubber Workers, who charged that he is a "traitor" and that his "misleadership has made the time ripe for anti-labor legislation in Washington."

The meeting, attended by about 500 persons, was called to outline labor's campaign to roll back food prices to the September, 1942, level. Petitions asking that prices on food be lowered were circulated at the meeting and signed by scores of persons in the theater lobby.

Author-Farmer Louis Bromfield, who was scheduled to lead the price discussion, was at the Gov-

TOO MUCH BEEF!

Cattle Raisers Say OPA Rules Holding Back Vast Surplus.

NEW YORK — (AP) — A cattle surplus, half of which would be sufficient to supply enough beef to feed "74,000,000 people in addition to supply our own armed forces and civilian population" for a year, will pile up by next January under present OPA restrictions, says the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers association.

The association, in a statement issued yesterday said the surplus would reach an estimated 15,400,000 head by the end of the year, and he added:

"The use of this surplus would be a genuine service since it would relieve our ranges and our feed lots of a severe strain on their resources."

MEAT SCARCITY MISSES CITY

650 Cleveland Dealers Warn They'll Close Shops as Supplies Dwindle.

While a meat famine resulting from a drop-off in the slaughter of meat threatened the nation today, Mansfield dealers reported "ample supplies."

Local dealers said today they had plenty of meat and were low only on lamb cuts. Beef, which has been reported non-existent in some communities, continued to fill Mansfield meat cases today.

Clevelanders today were threatened with the decision of 650 meat dealers to close their shops within the near future unless more meat was made available for sale.

Spokesman for the dealers, George H. Bubel, president of the Cleveland Retail Meat Dealers association, said, "Our meat dealers are just about at the end of their string. The consumer has points and money but we have no meat and the loss of business volume has driven the percentage of overhead costs away up. There is no point in operating a non-profitable business."

The action was blamed on the

OUTDO SELVES

Nazi Propagandists Say Reds Lose 20,000,000 Men.

(By United Press)

Nazi propagandists hit a new high today by broadcasting the claim that Russia had lost more than 20,000,000 men killed, wounded, and captured in two years of war with Germany.

The Berlin radio quoted Nazi military sources that the Germans had taken 5,500,000 prisoners in Russia, adding that if the killed and wounded were included, "the Soviets lost a total of more than 20,000,000 men."

Russia also lost at least 36,000 tanks, 50,000 guns and more than 40,000 planes in the two years which ended yesterday, the Germans claimed.

320,000 Smokes Obtained So Far In 'Cigs For Yanks' Drive

Clicking right along to the tune of nickles, dimes, and quarters, the drive for 1,000,000 cigarets for the fighting men overseas passed the one-third mark today.

Under the sponsorship of the American Legion auxiliary and The News-Journal, the campaign has brought in more than $800 which in terms of cigarets means more than 320,000 smokes for the Yanks.

Jars placed in business places throughout the city stood at different "money levels" today.

Several large contributions have been made by Mansfield organizations, Red, white and blue stickers with the name of the donor are placed on the ends of 1,000 packs bought by any organization or individual giving $50.

Climax to the drive will be the midnight show at the Ohio theater Wednesday, June 30. Mansfielders paying the 50-cent admission price can buy 10 packs of cigarets at the special price of five cents a pack and be entertained in exchange.

Harold McCuen is in charge of the show which will feature talent from the Battin, Speas, and Hogan dance studios. Other details of the program are not yet complete.

Admission tickets and special patron tickets from $1 up will be placed on sale within the next few days.

THEATERS

Plenty of Music.

"Presenting Lily Mars," current Ohio attraction, offers music lovers plenty of action. First, there is the star of the picture, Judy Garland. Any picture Judy plays in is a good bet to contain at least one future "hit" tune. Then there is the "Sentimental gentleman of swing" Tommy Dorsey and his orchestra and the orchestra of Bob Crosby. Miss Garland plays the part of a 19-year-old stage struck girl who runs into difficulty when Van Heflin, producer, tells her she isn't the actress type. But Judy isn't discouraged and she sets out to prove to Heflin he is wrong.

MILITARY POLICE NOW USING TWO-WAY RADIOS IN JEEPS

(By International News Service)

BAINBRIDGE, Ga.—The military police at the Bainbridge army air field have taken another step forward in making their outfit one of the most efficient in the army, officials announce.

Through use of newly installed two-way radios in jeeps and reconnaissance cars, the MP's can keep in direct contact with provost marshal headquarters because the radios are always tuned to the transmitter there, the announcement explained.

In case of an emergency, the officers said, the cruising jeep can be dispatched to the spot in record time.

Carrying out a job recognized as one of the most responsible in the armed forces, military police do more than safeguard millions of dollars worth of property and protect the welfare of the men serving their country. In addition, as traffic police, they work toward the safety of civilians driving on the field and save gas and rubber by enforcing driving regulations.

Yet another protective feature claimed by the radio-patrol cars insures additional safety for cadets who get confused and lost on a training flight. Picking up signals from pilots, they speed to the scene of forced landings.

SOUTH PACIFIC BASE—layed) — Robert L. Rheindt, boatswain mate, second class, Alliance, O., is quite a lad, n in this wild area where e are heroes aplenty.

e's the young sailor who can claim—if anyone can—to sav- Guadalcanal during the is- 's darkest hours, and, now the Japanese have been en off, his story can be told. was on Oct. 16, 1942, when enemy was staging one of most determined drives to re- Henderson field that Rheindt nteered for the hazardous job ringing aviation gasoline to beleaguered defenders. There hardly a drop left for our worked fighters and the y bombers hadn't been able ake off for four days because the shortage. The Japanese pressing harder than ever nst the American beachhead.

heindt went out in a ply- od Higgins boat to fill a load 40-gallon drums with the which had been towed to idalcanal on a huge barge.

ran my boat alongside the e at about 7 p. m.," Rheindt led today. "My boys were g the drums when a wave ap dive-bombers swooped out ne overcast sky and let go. bombed us before we saw got underway in the boat. use I knew we'd be killed near the barge. That was right, too, because in a few seconds the barge was in flames. But the following Jap planes missed and I saw our fighters take after them. Four of the Japs were shot down before they got beyond Savo island.

"Then I turned the boat around and headed back to the burning barge. The water was covered with blazing gasoline, but I saw one of my buddies standing naked on the stern. He'd undressed to get in the water but was scared to leave. He was blown off when the barge went up with 15,000 gallons. I picked him up nearly 100 yards away.

"There were about 20 men on the barge. I pulled six of them out of the water—three of them badly burned. The others were never seen again.

"We were all pretty hysterical. I cried like a baby. But it happened so quick we couldn't think, thank God."

Admiral William F. Halsey, commander of Allied South Pacific forces, recently awarded young Rheindt the Navy Cross for extraordinary heroism in action, phrasing the citation as follows:

"By his valorous action he succeeded in rescuing six men before being driven away by the heat and the spreading of burning gasoline. His gallant conduct was in keeping with the highest traditions of the naval service."

Wed Astride Horses At Vinson Estate

Unique was the wedding ceremony performed on horseback last night by Rev. Albert Linder, Park Avenue Baptist church, when Mrs. Lottie M. Thomas of Nashville, Tenn., became the bride of John Paul Peay, trainer and farm manager at Glenleigh Farms. The private service was read in the rose garden at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. S. Glenn Vinson. The above picture shows the bridegroom placing the ring on the bride's finger.

COUPLE MARRY ON HORSEBACK

Wedding Ceremony Follows Romance Started Through Mutual Love of Horses.

Climaxing a romance which began through their mutual love of fine horses, Lottie M. Thomas of Nashville, Tenn., and John Paul Peay, Glenleigh Farms, were married on horseback last evening in the rose garden at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. S. Glenn Vinson.

The bride, prominent horsewoman through the south, and well known here through her participation in northern horse shows, rode the walking-horse champion, Hy-Tone, of Glenleigh stables, familiar to horse lovers in this vicinity. Peay, trainer of show horses and manager of livestock at the Glenleigh Farms, for the past three years, rode "Gay Lady," another sorrel from Tennessee.

With no thought of display but motivated by their life-long love of horses from their native state of Tennessee, the couple was married in a simple private ceremony with only Mr. and Mrs. Vinson and Mr. and Mrs. Stanleigh Vinson and children attending. The single ring service was read at dusk by Rev. Albert L. Linder of the Park Avenue Baptist church who was astride "Dandy Man," also a sorrel.

The three left the Vinson stables at 8:45 p. m. to ride to the scene of the ceremony beside a rambler trellis where roses bloomed in profusion. The bride wore a brown riding habit with matching hat. The bridegroom was attired in brown coat, grey jodhpurs and grey hat.

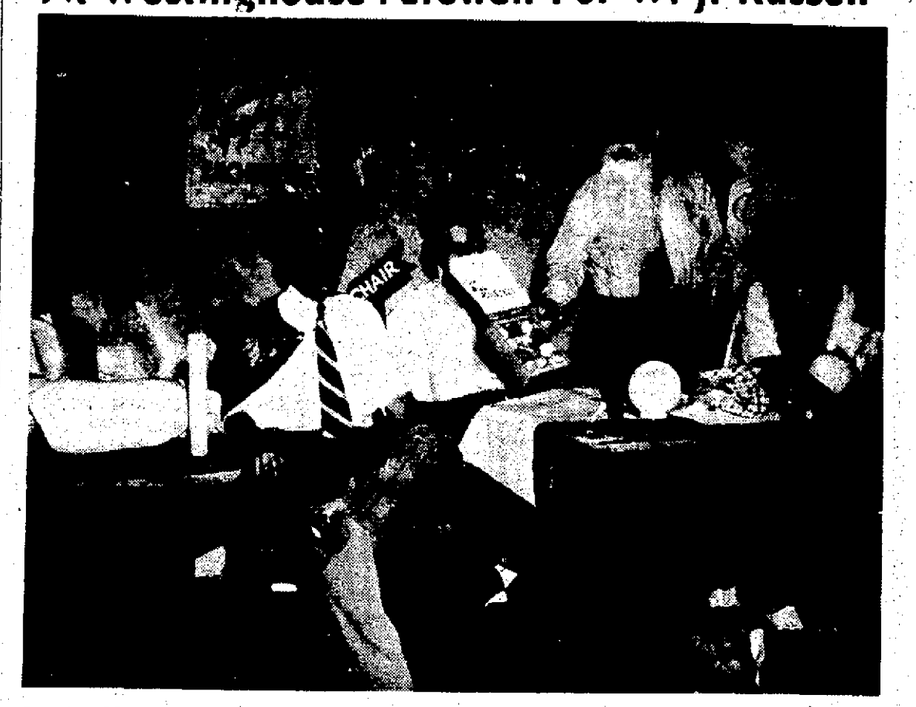
Capturing a breath of the old south was the picture of several "darkies," servants at the Glenleigh Farms, who were brought here from Tennessee by the bridegroom. They could be seen peering through the shrubbery, intent on seeing their "boss" married.

Following the service the couple rode their Tennessee mounts around the country estate. Later in the garden, a wedding cake was cut by the bride and refreshments served to the small wedding party.

Their romance began six years ago near their homes in Nashville, when Mrs. Thomas met Mr. Peay while riding on Valentine Day. Friendship developed and until the time Peay came here to work, the couple spent many hours riding through the Tennessse mountains.

Following an eastern trip they will reside at the Glenleigh Farms. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Pearl Moorhead of Nashville, and Mr. Peay's parents are Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Peay, Goodlettsville, Tenn.

At Westinghouse Farewell For W. J. Russell



Leaving Mansfield this week to accept a new position in the east, William J. Russell, manager of the appliance engineering department at Westinghouse, was honored (and kidded) last night with a farewell party at the Mansfield-Leland hotel. In keeping with his Scottish ancestry, Russell was bedecked in tam 'o-shanter and plaid cape, and presented with a variety of gifts of doubtful value, with the climax coming when associates presented him with a rare silver teapot and tray, made in Sheffield, England, about 1800. Westinghouse executives, as the picture above shows, were garbed as be-whiskered "doctors" in the "Academy of Stationary, Sanitary and Crystal-Gazing Engineers" and seated at a long table, with Initiate Russell occupying the place of honor. "Doctor" Reese Mills is shown here presenting Russell with a dozen golf balls of entirely questionable worth. Equal to the occasion, Russell gratefully accepted the gift, adding that it had been a life-long ambition to possess a dozen golf balls at one time. In more serious vein later, Russell voiced his regret at leaving Mansfield and the friendship made here in the past 11 years. He goes to New Britain, Conn., to become vice president of Landers, Frary and Clark, being directed by Arthur E. Allen, formerly in charge of the Mansfield Westinghouse plant.

EVER see a newspaperman's desk at the end of a crowded day—ash-strewn, paste-smeared, littered with the grist of the news mill that never stops?

It's hardly to be compared with the desk of a great general—and yet the enemy was pushed back here today!

Pushed back by another 24 hours of truthful reporting . . .

Pushed back by community leadership in myriad war activities from bond selling to tin can salvage . . .

Pushed back by the little things that help build and sustain a nation's morale—the personal items, the pictures of the boys at the front, the helps on the home page, the laughs on the comics page and the information and inspiration throughout the newspaper.

Yes, the enemy was pushed back here again today.

He will continue to fall back so long as American newspapers have anything to do about it!

IN THE CAPITAL-- By Raymond Clapper

LONDON—(By Wireless)—Comment here on the appointment of Field Marshal Sir Archibald P. Wavell as viceroy of India is favorable. This is based not only on his achievement as a soldier but also on recognition that he is a statesman as well.

The London Times describes him as a scholar, a thinker, a man of liberal sympathies and philosophic capacity as well as a man of action—and by no means lacking in a sense of humor. That last is perhaps the best recommendation for anyone wrestling with the plight of India. He must have an epic sense of humor if he is not to go mad with frustration.

Clapper

Wavell has had long experience as a military commander and administrator in the Middle East and India. To be successful as he has been, a man must have large qualities of understanding and patience, both of which are needed abundantly in India. The unusual amount of world-wide attention given to Wavell's appointment perhaps reflects an equally widespread hope that the state of affairs in India will be improved. No doubt insofar as any man in the office of viceroy at New Delhi can improve relations between the people of India and the British government, progress may be expected under Wavell. But the viceroy has been thus far largely the unfortunate fusing point between London and excitable native factions.

The erratic tactics of Gandhi, and his indifference to the effect of his course on the war against Japan, were so indefensible from the Allied point of view that he forfeited most sympathy. Many who feel that India has a real grievance could not defend Gandhi's course of civil disobedience, and his seeming indifference to the possibility of Japanese invasion of India which was an acute danger a year ago.

It is not a pretty picture for the United Nations case to have the leader of the largest political party in India in jail, so completely incommunicado that the American ambassador, Mr. Phillips, was refused permission to see him.

It also seems incongruous that a man like Nehru, who unquestionably is a strong believer in the Allied cause and who opposed the Axis in Ethiopia and Spain, should be in jail. But he chose to stick by Gandhi.

These contradictions testify to the incredibly tangled and stubborn character of India's prolonged crisis. Sometimes it seems as if India would have to wait until Gandhi and Jinnah, the Moslem leader, are both out of the way before there is any chance of healing its tortured existence. With two such fanatically hostile prima donnas to deal with, perhaps no practical course is left except the hard-boiled policy of Prime Minister Churchill, which is to stand for no nonsense that gets in the way of the war and to meet head on any challenge such as Gandhi's hunger strike.

That policy will do for the time being, but probably not even Churchill thinks it is one that can be successfully imposed after the war. The official announcement that there will be a separate East Asia command indicated that preparations for the coming campaign against Japan are well in hand. General Stillwell, commander of American forces in India, Burma and China, was in Washington during the recent Churchill discussions, as was Wavell. It is safe to assume that opening of the Mediterranean will make possible new operations in the fall, after the rainy season is over. India, including Burma, is bound to be one main base of the Allies in the Far East. The Indian ocean is a vital Allied area. India is capable of enormous industrial development.

Possibly Wavell will see a new India emerge from serfdom as an active member of the British commonwealth family like Canada.

FAIR ENOUGH-- By Westbrook Pegler

NEW YORK—Some of the opponents of the new federal law for the regulation of unions have objected to the forbiddance of contributions to campaign funds of candidates for federal office on various grounds. The protest that received most attention was based on the inequality of a millionaire industrialist giving a personal contribution of say, $5,000 to a candidate and a wage earner who is unable to support his choice with more than a few dollars. But none of the opponents of the measure would be persuaded to dwell on the facts of actual union practice in the matter of "voluntary" contributions by the membership to causes favored by union officers.

Pegler

A particularly interesting example of such practice is afforded by the International Ladies Garment Workers' Union whose president, David Dubinsky, a staunch New Dealer, of course, makes considerable political display of the fact that his union keeps books and renders accounts as though this were a startling virtue.

It is the custom of unions in Mr. Dubinsky's organization and of the parent union to back voluntarism, if there is such a word, by compulsion through a curious hypocrisy. This condition is most interesting because the bosses of the union are very intelligent men and are widely regarded as some of the most enlightened, liberal and idealistic leaders in the movement.

Currently, locals and groups of locals of the garment workers are being assessed for a war relief fund which, of course, has a laudable sound. But if a man must be a union member as a condition of employment then the union has no right to dictate to him in any matter of a contribution to any charity or political fund.

In the case of the war relief fund, the money is to be apportioned between the USO and the army and navy relief funds and other American charities, patriotic and general, but part of it is to go to Russia and China and to "underground movements fighting to free their homelands." None of the data in my possession states what the proportions are to be but I mention that omission just in passing. I think it more important to understand that here we find ostensibly free Americans required to give money to people of other nations and even to "underground movements," which, by their very nature, must be mysterious and cannot be accountable. I would point out too that by doing this we invite other peoples to raise money under the general auspices and with the support of their governments, not only now but when peace comes, to support underground movements in the United States

The members have not all taken kindly to this collection, taken up in some cases by means of the check-off, but they can't refuse. The amount varies. It may be $2 or $3 or a whole day's pay, but it must be paid or the delinquents will be fined for tardiness or expelled under an economic death-sentence, for complete refusal. They were not polled secretly on this. They were given orders and money legally their own which these people actually need is taken from them by compulsion backed by force

Similarly, it is the custom in this union to compel members to attend political meetings in the interest of candidates whom the high officials favor and who, in turn, naturally would reward those high officials if they were elected. I have known of several specific cases of such compulsory attendance at partisan political rallies but, as a test case, I wrote Mr. Dubinsky last fall for verification of one. In that instance all members of Local 32, Corset and Brassiere Workers' Union, were told that they must attend a meeting to be addressed by Dean Alfange, the nominee for governor of New York, put forth by the New Deal Socialist-Communist-European subsidiary, the so-called American Labor party. Those who failed to attend would be fined a dollar.

Mr. Dubinsky replied with a contradiction. He said that "such fines are never collected" but couldn't explain away the fact that the threat was contained in the notice nor did he touch upon the fact that one of his own high officials is also an official of, and, an active politician in, the American Labor party. Mr Dubinsky's notion of democracy brought with him from Europe, is such that he thinks this is democratic procedure and it may be added that this view is shared by most other officials of similar unions which are ranked among the "clean" unions because the international officers are not thieves.

MARSHALL SAYS TUNISIA CRACKS SUPERMAN MYTH

Tells Governors Democracies Have Called Bluff on Nazi Army.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS—The Tunisian victory exploded the myth of the Nazi superman, says Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff of the United States army.

"The superman has had his day" the officer told the 35th annual governors' conference last night. "The democracies have called his bluff."

Asserting psychological by-products of the African triumph have been "of immense importance," General Marshall said:

"There has been a rebirth of the French army with a splendid example of courageous and aggressive fighting power. The observing nations have seen selected German troops humbled by an extension and improvement of the technique that brought about the downfall of France.

"The Allies have gained confidence in each other, and the Allied fighting men, and the scales have so tipped that those nations who have been maneuvering merely to be on the winning side can no longer escape the conclusion that there is no victry in prospect for Germany."

Joseph E. Davies, former ambassador to Russia expressed belief that had not the red army stopped Hitler's eastern drive "the Germans might have overrun Africa, might have made Tunisia impossible, and might have made junction with the Japs in India and on the Persian Gulf."

Davies said his recent trip to the Soviet union to deliver a letter from President Roosevelt to Marshal Stalin convinced him Germany would fail to achieve victory over Russia this year.

Cautioning that to carp at Russia only helps the Axis, Davies called for a "constructive effort to create a public opinion at this critical time, when both the war and the peace are in jeopardy, which would fortify our confidence in our Allies and their confidence in us."

Paul V. McNutt, chairman of the war manpower commission, said in an address prepared for delivery that "when we are perfectly sure that every last alternative—as measured by the stern priorities of war—has been exhausted, then, and only then," will fathers be drafted. The address was read by Robert C. Goodwin, regional manpower director.

The exact date for calling fathers cannot be established definitely now because the needs of industry and the military are variable, he asserted.

Three of Richland county's "minute men" were "in it men" last night at Charles Mill lake. LeRoy McGinty, C. D. Sherrard, and Lee Stone, decided to try out a new sailing canoe which according to the advertisements couldn't be upset by five men standing on one side. But the advertisements weren't talking about three like McGinty, Sherrard and Stone. While Stone was standing up casting for bass from the boat, "unsinkable" canoe upset throwing the trio in the lake.

An East Third street man who started downtown at 3 a. m. today with a basket of his wife's canned goods to "trade for liquor" was headed off by police before he could effect the trade, and the groceries were safely back on the pantry shelf today. The wayward husband, who was already suffering from the effects of too many drinks, was stopped by officers who wondered where he was going at that hour with chicken soup, tomato juice, sardines, cheese spread, and mustard. He told them, and was promptly taken to police headquarters with the basket. His wife claimed the groceries and her husband was permitted to go home to do his explaining to her.

TAKES UP FARM RECRUIT TASKS

Agricultural War Board Has Job of Placement, Transfer of County Workers.

The task of recruiting and transferring Richland county farm workers to replace men who have been inducted into the armed forces today had been placed in the hands of the county agricultural war board, headed by Guy L. Taylor.

Under a new U. S. department of agriculture plan, the war board will serve as technical adviser to selective service boards in working out a program whereby farm operations will be hindered as little as possible by the induction of farm workers.

The war board, with headquarters at 68½ North Diamond street, will help farm registrants prepare applications for draft deferment, but the board will have no control over actual granting or refusal to grant deferments to farm workers.

A form for recording information about the farm where the registrant lives or is employed may be obtained at selective service board offices. When filled out, it will assist the agricultural war board in finding replacements for the men called for military training.

County Agent George B. Ganyard will be called on to find replacements for farm workers who are placed in Class 2 or 3C by their draft boards. As adequate replacements are found, the deferred registrants will be called for induction.

Taylor said it is the duty of every registrant to file an application for his own replacement with the county agent. This plan gives the registrant a chance to list the qualifications of the man needed to fill his place so food production can be maintained at a steady pace.

I think it might be a good idea to tell you today that Howard Herrick, Mansfield high school track captain of the past season, leaves tomorrow for Fort Thomas, Ky., and the U. S. Army Air Force, and from there he goes to Texas.

I know you were informed on this page last week that Herrick had left for service the day before he was named on the All-Ohio High School track squad.

But my informant on that occasion, usually a very reliable news source, was himself misinformed. So I was misinformed, and so you were misinformed.

But no one was hurt. So save your sobs, Susie, for a more grievous error.

In fact it all turned out to the good. Herrick was still home to read about his All-Ohio honors, and no one had to send him a clipping of the same.

Giving credit where credit is due: The All-Ohio track selections are Mansfield Mentor Harry Mehock's idea. "They do it in football and basketball, why shouldn't we do it in track?" said Mehock as he sold his fellow track tutors the idea.

Tom Scott, former Mansfield High and Ohio Wesleyan bucketballer, is going back to school again, but not to Ohio Wesleyan where he graduated recently.

And now that Tom is going to Columbia, I wonder if he will hear that cheer which the rowdy element in other schools of what is known as the effete East, used to yell.

It went like this:

Baseball, boxing, swimming in the tank,
We've got money but we keep it in the bank,
Ka-loom-bee-yah, Ka-loom-bee-yah, Ka-loom-bee-yah!

Winding up this column of Mansfield sports figures in service:

Cpl. Howard A. Hershey, ex-Mansfield high school gridder and pole vaulter, is now serving with the Army Air Force in the southwest Pacific area.

And 2nd Lt. Johnny Foltz, former Mansfield tennis player, is now taking a course in staff navigation, seldom open to anyone under the rank of captain. It fits him for aerial navigation in any part of the world. As a navigation instructor, Johnny had graduated two classes of Army Air Force navigators.

Sailors Defeat Indians

Tribe Held To Five Hits By Great Lakes.

DETROIT —(AP)— The Cleveland Indians play a twilight contest tonight with the Detroit Tigers, the club they manhandled in a double header last Thursday in beginning a rise from seventh to third place in the league standings.

Spectacled Jack Salveson, winner of four games and loser of only one, hurls for the Tribe in the opener of a four-game series. Southpaw Hal Newhouser is his opponent.

The Redskins stepped out of the league competition yesterday and were trimmed 2 to 1 by the Great Lakes Bluejackets. The sailors produced the winning run in the ninth inning to record their 18th victory in 21 games and their fourth triumph over a major league team.

The bluejackets pounded Joe Heving and Allie Reynolds for 12 hits, while the Indians made five, including a triple by Manager Lou Boudreau.

HOLDS CONFAB

CINCINNATI —(AP)— His team taking a day of rest, Manager Bill McKechnie of the Cincinnati Reds called the board of strategy together today to plan a means of using his weakened ball team victoriously against the St. Louis Cardinals in the two remaining games of the Reds-Cards series.

With Lonnie Frey on the sidelines because of an injured leg, the Reds are weakened considerably at the plate.

The champs, who walked off with the evening's honors, 6 to 2, after weather conditions discomforted the 16,197 fans in the eighth inning, did all the damage in the sixth when they scored four times on four hits.

Up to then the score was tied at two-all, the Reds getting single tallies in the second and third.

Whitey Kurowski led off the sixth with a single but it hit Williams' legs and bounced into the bull pen and Kurowski pulled up at third only to score on Sander's long fly. An infield single by Marty Marion and a safe bunt by Pitcher Howie Krist was followed by Low Klein's double, scoring Marion. Krist, who went to third on Klein's smash, came racing home on a fly ball. Stan Musial lashed out a triple to send Klein across the plate.

Tennis Big Names In Cincy Tourney

CINCINNATI--(AP)--The "Big names" in the forty-second annual tri-state tennis tournament go into action today including two national champions

Seymour Greenberg, of Chicago, who Sunday won the national clay courts title from Cincinnati's Billy Talbert, is scheduled to make two appearances—provided, of course, he gets past his first opponent.

Greenberg, on leave of absence from the enlisted reserve corps of the army air forces, is one of the few to capture the national clay courts title twice in a row.

Attractive Pauline Betz, Los Angeles 'strawberry blond," who holds the national women's title, is billed for two matches

Phillip Klein, of Mariemont, was the first player to enter the quarter finals when he defeated "Chunk" Helvie, former professional football player, 6-2, 6-3.

Dahlgren, Stephens Tied In Averages

NEW YORK—(AP)—Babe Dahlgren of the Phillies and Vernon Stephens of the St. Louis Browns have been standing side by side at the top of the major league hitters for so long that it is scarcely any wonder that they are sharing the same batting average.

Both have marks of .358 and are exactly 18 points ahead of their nearest rivals. In the National league Billy Herman of Brooklyn spurted into second place with .340 as Dahlgren held virtually steady. A week ago he had .359.

In the American league Oris Hockett of Cleveland continued with his batting pace unchanged, .340 last Tuesday and the same today, while Stephens subsided from .369 to .358. The latter, incidentally, takes his preliminary physical examination for military service tonight.

OHIOAN LOSES

NEWARK, N. J.— (UP) —"Wild Bill" McDowell, 165, Paterson, N. J., today held a decision over Pvt. Gib Jones, 171, Cincinnati, following their eight-round feature bout at Meadowbrook bowl here last night before 1,900 fans.

Gunder Thunders Home All Alone

The great Swedish runner Gunder Haegg wins his first American race. He is shown easily outdistancing Greg Rice (arrow) to win the 5,000-meter run which featured the A. A. U. national track and field championships staged for the benefit of the Army Air Forces Aid society at Randall's Island stadium, in New York City. Although Haegg finished fifty yards in front, his time of 14:48.5 contrasted poorly with his record mark of 13:58.2 set over the same distance in Sweden last summer.

Pro Football Idea Growing

New Frontier Opened For Post-War Play.

CHICAGO—(AP)—Officials of the National Football league, previously worried for fear the circuit would shrink, found themselves with growing pains after concluding their extra-inning meeting yesterday.

Officials said after the war pro football may no longer be a sectionalized sport, but may expand to such proportions that far western cities heretofore regarded as out-of-reach will find the game on their doorsteps.

This new frontier will be realized if the league, at its next session in December, votes to accept Don Ameche's franchise for Los Angeles. There also is a move to obtain a franchise for San Francisco.

With Boston already in, starting next year, and with Cleveland returning after the war when the new Philadelphia-Pittsburgh combine will separate, the league will have 11 members—six in its eastern division and five in the west. The need for another western club is evident for balance, and Los Angeles, is the likely newcomer.

This would mean teams would shuttle back and forth throughout the west, passing through such cities as Kansas City, Denver and Salt Lake City to reach their destination. It is possible that these cities may eventually sponsor teams in the league.

The last bit of business yesterday was the adoption of a round-robin, 40-game schedule for the eight teams operating in 1943.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Sketch of a swell guy . . . Greg Rice lay on a rubbing table in a steamy-hot dressing room. He had just taken the licking of his life in a race with Sweden's Gunder Haegg and his string of victories had been snapped at 65 . . . what's more he was sick. Under the conditions, you'd think a fellow had a right to be a bit peeved at everything . . . but Rice managed to display a big grin all the time and when the reporters crowded around, he'd sit up painfully, shake hands and say "thanks" and you knew both the grin and the thanks were genuine . . .

In another corner of the room, one of Rice's superior officers was trying to explain the attitude of the maritime service toward his running . . . "He'll perform his regular duties and won't have much time to train," the officer said, "so I doubt if he'll run against Haegg again."

QUOTE, UNQUOTE

Last word by Haegg (as relayed by an interpreter): "He says he likes to sit around and talk with newspapermen as much as anybody but he doesn't think it's a good idea when he's in training." . . . It can be a bad idea at other times, too.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. — (U.P.) — Two-ton Tony Galento, Orange, N. J., barkeep, was another step along the comeback trail today following a two-round knockout victory over Fred Blassie, Lambert Field, St. Louis, Mo.

Galento knocked Blassie out at Caswell Park here last night in a bout scheduled for 10 rounds.

Hens Wake Up On Homers

Indianapolis Beats Columbus Red Birds.

(By Associated Press)

The Toledo Mudhens, who have won only two of their last nine starts and have slid from the first division to sixth place in the American association, had their "awakening" last night, checking out three home runs to defeat Louisville, 6-2.

Nick Gregory smashed a circuit blow in the fourth inning with bases empty and repeated in the sixth with two men aboard. No one was on base when Al Zarilla Laos connected for a homer in the seventh. But the three four-baggers accounted for five runs and came at the expense of Pitcher Mel Deutsch, who was followed by Jim Wilson and Vic Johnson. Toledo hacked away at the trio for a total of 11 hits.

Indianapolis beat Columbus 7 to 6 for its 27th victory in 40 games, and boosted its percentage to .675 for a 2½ game lead over second-place Milwaukee.

Earl Reid, who has dropped two one run decisions to the Red Birds this season, stuck around long enough to get the victory, but he needed help from Johnny Hutchings in the last inning. He went to Reid's aid after Columbus filled the bases on two walks and an error. Chet Zieczork's single brought in a pair of runs, but Hutchings quelled the uprising and Columbus suffered his 12th loss in 20 games.

St. Paul's game at Milwaukee and Minneapolis' contest at Kansas City were postponed.

Rice Ordered To Sea; Races Off

NEW YORK—(U.P.)— Little Greg Rice's second chance to disprove the invincibility of Sweden's Gunder Haegg apparently went glimmering today with the announcement that the American champion, a chief specialist's mate in the maritime service, had been ordered to sea.

"If it is true that Rice is unable to meet me again because he is going to sea, I certainly express my regret," Haegg said. "We had a hard race Sunday and I was lucky in winning. The outcome did not change my respect for Rice. He not only is a nice fellow personally, but he is also a great runner."

* * *

Rice said he expected to be at sea "for at least a month" and that it "probably means I won't be able to run against Haegg again.

Bad Luck Follows Giants

Trades Fizzle Out, and So Do Victories.

By JUDSON BAILEY
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

THE New York Giants not only haven't had much luck on the playing field this season, they haven't had anything resembling good break in their trades.

Early in the spring they obtained Ernie Lombardi, the National batting champion, by giving up a rookie catcher and infielder Connie Ryan. Lombardi has been just ordinary for the Giants while Ryan has sparked for the Braves.

More recently the Giants gave Herbert Barna, a sometime slugging outfielder, to the Boston Red Sox for Lefty Kendall Chase, a pitcher with considerable American league experience.

Barna, who had been a lackluster performer for the Giants, entered the Red Sox lineup immediately and began clouting extra-base hits.

The Giants were criticized for taking Chase, who had not won a game this season. But they bided their time and waited for the proper spot to unveil a southpaw.

This occasion came yesterday in a twilight game against the Brooklyn Dodgers.

For five innings he shutout the Dodgers on one hit while his teammates gave him a 1-0 advantage over Bobo Newsom. But in the sixth the Dodgers tied the score and in the seventh they chased Chase with six runs on five hits and captured a 7-1 decision.

The game had to be called at the end of the eighth because of darkness.

In the only other game on the major league program the St. Louis Cardinals maintained their 2½ game edge over the Dodgers by taking a 6-2 verdict at Cincinnati in a game that was halted by weather conditions at the end of seven innings.

Brands Elk Hills Contract Worse Than Teapot Dome

LITTELL SAYS STANDARD OIL GETS 'GRAVY'

Congressmen Refuse To Drop Investigation of Navy's Cancelled Agreement.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Assistant Attorney General Norman Littell told the House Public Lands committee today the contract between the Standard Oil company of California and the navy department for joint operation of the Elk Hills, Cal., petroleum reserve "went beyond agreements involved in the Teapot Dome and Elk Hills oil scandal of the Harding administration."

Declaring the present Elk Hills contract, now being investigated, resulted in a form of "partnership" between the government and Standard, Littell said terms of the contract conveyed to the company land owned by the government.

"This contract," he asserted, "goes beyond the Fall (Albert Fall, secretary of interior during the Teapot Dome leases) contracts."

Terming the transaction a "pooling" of resources, Littell said it had the asset of giving the Standard Oil company a monopoly on oil production from the reserve for the first five years.

He added that the scope of the contract was so broad as to surpass what he believed to be the intentions of congress in acts it has passed for oil conservation.

Earlier the committee refused to consent to a request of the attorney general to defer its investigation in the contract.

Declared "illegal and invalid" last week by the justice department, the contract has been cancelled by Navy Secretary Knox on the basis of the justice department's investigation.

The decision to press the investigation followed a statement by Representative Lemke (R-ND) that the justice department's request for continued deferment made him "suspicious."

"What is there about the report which is so mysterious?" Lemke asked. "I am getting suspicious. It seems about time we found out what this is all about. I don't like this mysterious buck passing."

Meanwhile, Keith Kane, legal advisor to the navy department, told the committee the navy considered the contract an excellent one and in the public's interest. He said the navy is studying the justice department's report and will present to congressional committees and government officials, including War Mobilization Director Byrnes, its views on the merits of the contract.

Kane said Knox's cancellation of the contract followed advice he received from Attorney General Biddle and Byrnes.

NEWARK CITY OFFICIALS LAUD PARKING PLAN, POLICE BUREAU

Four Newark city officials and police representatives inspected Mansfield's parking meters and police identification bureau yesterday afternoon and liked them so well that they went home to try to convince their own council that Newark needs the same things.

The visiting delegation was headed by Mayor Arthur Lockwood who said he liked the idea of parking meters and hoped they could be installed in Newark. With them here were Police Chief Gail Christman, Chief Detective Clyde Hupp and Patrolman Joseph Campbell.

Impressed by the police radio and photography and fingerprinting set-up in Mansfield, Chief Christman said he had inspected the police equipment in a number of Ohio cities of the size of Mansfield and Newark and had seen none he liked as well as Mansfield's.

He indicated that he would send Patrolman Campbell here in a few days to work with Identification Officer E. C. Fuller for two weeks in order to acquaint the Newark officer with the operation of the Mansfield system. In the event Newark council appropriates funds for modernizinz the police equipment, Campbell would then be ready to take over, Chief Christman said.

Mayor Lockwood obtained a copy of the Mansfield parking meter ordinance, figures showing revenue from the meters, and questioned police about the operation of the meter system.

NAME MILLER TO HEAD COUNCIL

Religious Education Group Elects Officers During Picnic Meeting.

Myron Miller, 459½ Glessner avenue, was named president of the Mansfield Council of Religious Education last evening at the council's picnic supper meeting at South park.

Miller succeeds W. C. Mansfield, who was elected vice-president for the coming year. Other new officers chosen were Wayne Ward, secretary, succeeding Mrs. W. O. Leedy, and Eleanor Johns, treasurer, succeeding Russell McCullough. These officers were installed last night.

Reports given by Mrs. Leedy, retiring secretary, showed that, with all bills paid, the council had a balance of $200. The sum of $2,200 has been subscribed to carry on the council's work this year.

It was also reported that more than 1,200 pupils of elementary school age had been given religious education in the schools the past school year.

The council discussed plans to increase the period of the annual daily vacation Bible school from two weeks to a month next year. It was reported that 500 children were enrolled in the school this year.

Japs Harder To Lick Than Hitler, Club Speaker Says

"The Japanese will be ten times as hard to lick as Hitler," predicted Louis D. Hochberg, of Akron, speaker at today's meeting of the Mansfield Rotary club at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

Hochberg, who served as a marine in the first World war, was plant manager of the Goodyear operations in Java, Dutch East Indies, for two years before that island fell to the Japanese early last year and was among the Americans, British and Dutch who left the island on the last boat to get away.

He told of the systemized destruction with which the Japs carried on their attacks and of the great odds against which the defenders fought, with no help from the forty million natives on the island, all of whom are ardent pacificists.

An interesting sidelight was the treatment accorded Mr. and Mrs. Hochberg when they visited Japan in 1940, while en route to his new post in Java. Hatred of the white race was shown in every Japanese city they visited, he said, and an effort was apparently made to inconvenience white visitors in every possible way, and to make them understand that they were unwelcome in Japan.

"We will win against the Japanese," he said, "but it will be through all-out effort on the part of all of us, with steadily increasing military power, rather than than by any easy method or in the short time that some people seem to think."

J. H. Gongwer was program chairman of the meeting, at which Harry B. Soulen, club president, presided.

TEACHERS ASK SICK LEAVE PAY

Request Board For Five Days Each Year Without Having Salary Deductions.

Mansfield teachers last night asked the board of education to revise its plan of providing sick leave for teachers by permitting five days leave a year without a salary deduction. The board took no action on the request.

Under the plan sought by the teachers, days not used by the teacher for sick leave would accumulate for six years, or until a maximum of 30 is reached.

If the teacher should be unable to return to work at the end of five days, $5 per day would be deducted from the teacher's salary to pay a substitute.

Upon return of the teacher to school, a statement signed by a doctor indicating the validity of the illness would be submitted to the principal or superintendent if they request it.

The request for changes in the set-up came from the Mansfield City Teachers' association and the Mansfield Federation of Teachers.

Under the present system, teachers are granted no sick leave with pay. In the case of elementary instructors, $4 a day is deducted and paid to a substitute for every day of absence. The amount is stepped up to $5 for junior high teachers and $6 for Senior high instructors.

Mansfielders At Boys State Back After 10-Day Meet

Fourteen Mansfield youths returned to their homes today after attending the 10-day American Legion-sponsored Boys State at Delaware.

The Mansfield boys, along with approximately 500 other boys from Ohio, were given the fundamentals of government and law, with students from Ohio State University acting as instructors.

The delegates returned home after a surprise election designed to keep this year's officers in office next year.

Al Long, Delaware, was re-elected governor, defeating Frank Rogers, of Alliance, by 105 votes. Other officers, re-elected for next year are:

William Konold, Upper Arlington, lieutenant governor; William Bur, Cincinnati, secretary of state; Hugh Oller, Delaware, state auditor; Dick Keller, Hicksville, state treasurer, and Warner Bloomberg, Massillon, attorney general.

COFFEY DOES IT

SHELBY — Police Chief Leroy Coffey, who has been raising bees at his city-farm for the past several years, had his first practical use of his knowledge in police work recently when he was called out to the home of Mrs. William Smith on Auburn street where 10,000 bees had swarmed in a small tree.

He managed to get them down and into one of his hives.

THREE FINED

Resist Officer After Being Arrested at Night Club.

Three Fort Wayne, Ind., men who engaged in a skirmish with police early today at the Ringside night club and on North Diamond street were fined in municipal court this morning for fighting and resisting an officer.

Fined $15 and costs each for resisting arrest were Andrew Wallace and Eugene Love. Their companion, L. L. Lawrence, received a $10 fine for fighting.

Five police officers rounded up the trio, about 3 a. m., capturing Lawrence and Love near the Union station and Wallace on East Temple court.

Patrolman Glen P. Adams was "ganged" by the men after he broke up a fight between Lawrence and a Mansfielder at the night club and took them outside to wait for a police cruiser. When a passer-by volunteered to help Adams, one of the men fought with the volunteer. The three Indianans then broke away with police capturing them later.

WOMAN BECOMES ANIMAL KEEPER

SAN DIEGO, Cal.—(U.P.)—The distinction of being the first woman animal keeper at Balboa park and probably the first in the nation, has been won by Georgia Dittoe, a former gift shop operator.

Mrs. Dittoe actually rolls up her sleeves, pulls on boots, and takes care of 20 cages of wild small animals. Her charges include pandas, cheetahs, coati mondis and scores of other strange animals. No novice at the animal-keeping business, Mrs. Dittoe's married an animal trainer who had several roadside shows in the East.

STOCK MARKET EARLY TRADING STEADIES DOWN

Further Decline In Loans To Commerce and Industry Reported For Week.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK.— Moderately steadier tendencies were displayed by the stock market in today's early dealings.

At a quiet opening gains of fractions were registered for general Motors, Western Union, Westinghouse and Anaconda, on the offside were Bethlehem, U. S. Rubber, Republic Steel and Radio Corp.

Scant market satisfaction was derived from the federal reserve summary disclosing another dip in loans to commerce, industry and agriculture in the week ended June 16.

ADJUSTS PAY ON SCHOOL POSTS

Board Raises Wages of Three Men, Delays Action on 3 Other Requests.

The Mansfield board of education last night adjusted the pay of three maintenance men at the request of the International Union of Operating Engineers but withheld action on four other requests submitted by the union.

The board increased the pay of three building maintenance men to $1,790 to bring them in line with a fourth who was doing the same work for more money.

Also included in a letter to the board were requests that the use of buildings for extra-curricular activities be limited to permits issued by one person, that as many activities as possible be held in a few buildings rather than in all sections of the city, that an extra maintenance man be assigned when night meetings are held in buildings where the state requires a licensed man to be on the job, and that heavy janitorial work be performed during regular working hours and not after hours.

The board authorized the expenditure of $3,308 for summer repairs to the school buildings, J. B. Moke, superintendent of buildings, will supervise the work.

H. W. Arlin, board president, re-appointed the four member committee to prepare the 1944 school budget requests for action by the board before July 20 Members of the committee are Supt. W. L. Miller, Harold A. Bruce, vice president of the board; Moke, and John H. Eisaman, board clerk.

The board accepted a welding machine which the state purchased from the Hughes-Keenan Manufacturing company and turned over to the Senior high school shop for use in the war worker training program. The Senior high shop now has seven of the machines.

HIGH STANDARD HOUSE PAINT

"LOTS OF PEOPLE make a big mistake in figuring the cost of house paint. They look at its price per gallon. But that's all wrong. What they really pay for is coverage per gallon. That's why I figure it's just common sense to use Lowe Brothers High Standard House Paint. It's definitely a quality paint and it covers solidly more square feet of surface, so it spreads evenly and easily, cuts down the labor and cost, lengthens the time between repainting. It just naturally goes farther and lasts longer to save money all the way."

U. S. BOMBERS SMASH AT RUHR FOR FIRST TIME

Yanks and British Hurl Giant Air Fleets at Italy; Axis Jitters Grow.

Germany—amid indications that it was one of the heaviest blows of the war.

By comparison, the RAF's biggest losses in the past included:

May 30, 1942—44 lost over Cologne in the first 1,000-bomber raid in history.

June 25, 1942—52 lost over Bremen.

Two weeks ago, 43 bombers of "the greatest attacking force yet sent over Germany," all four-engined planes, failed to return from raids on Duesseldorf and Muenster.

DNB, the German news agency, admitted that "numerous blocks of buildings" at Krefeld were laid in ruins.

Krefeld, 20 miles northwest of ruined Duesseldorf, is a center of heavy steel industries, coal mines and chemical works.

On Europe's southern ramparts, Allied warplanes significantly turned the full violence of their attack from Sicily and Sardinia to Italy itself, blasting the port of Naples and at least five other Italian mainland cities in day and night raids.

These included Salerno, Battipaglia, Cancello, Reggio Calabria and San Giovanni.

A bulletin from Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters said U. S. Flying Fortresses inflicted havoc on rail yards and industrial targets at Naples yesterday "and bombs were seen to burst on the arsenal."

Night-flying RAF Wellingtons from North Africa had also attacked Naples a few hours earlier.

In addition to the six Italian mainland cities listed by the Allied command, Italian headquarters said the raiders bombed Annunziata, south of Naples.

A Fascist communique reported 10 persons killed and 72 injured at Naples, one dead and eight injured at Annunziata, 14 dead and 45 injured at Salerno, and 15 dead and 70 injured at Battipaglia—a total of 40 killed, 195 injured.

At the same time, the Cairo command announced that American heavy bombers from the Middle East smashed at important military targets on the toe of the Italian boot in daylight yesterday and shot down 20 of 40 Axis fighters attempting to intercept them. All the U. S. planes returned safely.

RAF heavyweights hammered the same region Sunday night, setting big fires; while long-range Allied fighters, continuing to hunt down enemy shipping in the Aegean, attacked four vessels off the west coast of Greece.

A British air ministry communique described the overnight raid of Krefeld as "very heavy and concentrated"—delivered "in great strength"—and indicated that it approached the 1,000-bomber class.

The toll of 44 bombers was the highest yet suffered by the RAF in any single attack this year.

RAF night intruders also strafed rail targets and airfields in France and Belgium.

Air Blows Seen as Prelude to Sea Fight

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — The navy announced today that American fliers hammered at three Japanese air bases in the South Pacific, continuing an aerial drive that is believed to presage a full dress offensive by the U. S. fleet.

The latest attacks were delivered against major enemy air centers in the Solomons.

Army Liberator heavy bombers hit Kieta and Kahili on Bougainville island on Sunday, but results were not observed.

The following day, navy dive and torpedo bombers, escorted by fighters, blasted Munda on New Georgia island, scoring hits and silencing several anti-aircraft positions.

Navy fighter planes on Sunday intercepted and shot down a Mitsubishi bomber north of Florida island, which is in American hands. The enemy plane was presumed to have been on a reconnaissance flight. Such missions usually have preceded Japanese aerial attempts against American positions in the southeastern Solomons.

Last Friday's U. S. attacks on Japan's Gilbert island bases at Tarawa and Nauru were believed to have been primarily reconnaissance missions. They fortified impressions here that a grand-scale American offensive in the Pacific may be in the making.

Report Widespread Ruin In Berlin

STOCKHOLM — (AP) — Travellers returning to Sweden from Germany report so much of Berlin has been "plowed up" by intensive RAF bombings that many quarters cannot be recognized."

Information on the bomb damage inflicted by the intensive March bombardments has been slow in seeping out of Germany as the Nazis rigidly control travel in the affected areas.

Among the places damaged by bombs are the former Russian embassy, the American Express Travel Bureau, and the residence of Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels, German propaganda minister.

A Swede quoted by the Arbetet reported: "On the way to the Friedrichstrasse railroad you will find gaps in rows of houses. In Reinickendorf, where many factories are located, you will find the worst destruction.

"The Prager Platz looks like a gigantic gravel pit. A few steps from the Prager Platz I could count more than 50 houses leveled to the ground.

One traveler said the center of Berlin has been damaged," but not as greatly as one would expect."

Yanks Bag 14 Zeros Despite Heavy Odds

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA — (AP) — American Lightnings swooped down upon a large formation of Japanese Zeros over New Guinea yesterday, destroyed at least 14 and probably 23 and came home without a single plane missing.

The 14 Zeros blew up in the air or crashed to the ground in sight of American pilots.

"The remaining nine were in flames and losing altitude," a communique from General MacArthur's headquarters said. "Their complete destruction was most probable."

There were 36 Zeros in the enemy formation when the P-38's, outnumbered about two to one, came upon them over the Lae area. Despite the great odds the communique said that "our damage was slight" and a headquarters spokesman declared all our planes returned.

Doctor, Three Women Cited on Narcotics Charge.

DAYTON—(AP)—Dr. Lester L. Taylor, 78-year-old physician of nearby Yellow Springs, and three women were indicted by the federal grand jury yesterday on charges of conspiracy to violate the national narcotics law.

U. S. Attorney Calvin Crawford said the physician dispensed narcotics drugs to the women, and kept "large quantities" on hand.

MEAT SCARCITY MISSES CITY

black market operators' strangle hold on the nation's beef supply, which OPA and meat packing authorities admitted was out of hand.

Meanwhile, in Cincinnati resolutions were drawn up by representatives of local meat retailers which if adopted at a mass meeting of packers and retail dealers tonight will be sent to Washington.

These include the establishment of a federal program, without subsidies, to stimulate production of livestock and food commodities; creation of a food agency with an advisory committee representing everyone in the industry; abolition of all existing OPA meat ceiling prices on packers and processors but not on retailers, since OPA has failed and refused to fix meat prices in terms provided by the act of congress; establishment of but one maximum price on meat products and agricultural commodities.

Over the nation a consistent dearth of cattle for slaughter has been reported. Beef slaughtering fell to one-half normal yesterday, agriculture department officials said, and in some cities the decline took on the aspect of a strike.

The sudden drop in slaughtering was caused, it was said, by uncertainty over the subsidy program, which is intended to compensate packers for the new roll-back of meat prices.

Wilder La Roe, jr., Washington representative of the National Independent Meat Packers' association, claimed that packers are now losing $15 per beef slaughtered. He predicted that the decline in beef slaughtering will continue until either packers or retail beef prices are graded upward.

ASKS FOR BIDS

State Prepares For Contract For Route 42 Paving.

The state highway department today asked for bids on the Lexington avenue-South Main widening and resurfacing project in Mansfield and resurfacing of sections of Marion avenue and Park avenue west.

Contract for the work, estimated to cost $74,000, will be let July 13. Approximately 2.8 miles of streets, all on state and federal highways, will be improved.

Major part of the work will be on U. S. Route 42 south from Central park to the city limits and on state Route 13, South Main street) from the intersection with Lexington avenue to the city limits. The streets will be widened at the intersection and pedestrian safety islands will be constructed.

The city will share the cost with the state and property owners who will benefit by the improvement. The city and property owners share is $30,000 and the city will provide the right-of-way.

RAISES PRICE

OPA Boosts Cost of Some Canned Foods.

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — Price Administrator Prentiss M. Brown today ordered an increase in allowable retail prices of rice, pickles, relishes, and certain canned fruits and vegetables to restore in part price reductions following President Roosevelt's "hold-the-line" order.

Not affected by the order are canned peaches, pears, pineapples, fruit cocktail, corn, peas, green and wax beans, tomatoes and tomato juice. All other canned fruits and vegetables will show an increase in price of one to two cents a large can over the current price, OPA said.

BRAND LEWIS AS 'TRAITOR'

Labor Rally Speakers Charge Mine Leader's 'Playing Hitler's Game.'

ernors' conference in Columbus and sent a telegram expressing his regrets at not being able to attend the meeting.

Mrs. Lederman attacked the pay-as-you-go income tax law as "the equivalent of a 20 per cent wage cut for workers" and added that government subsidies to farmers was the "only way to roll back food prices."

She quoted Mansfield retailers' advertised prices on meat, butter, eggs, potatoes, and apples which, she said, represented increases of from 59 to 806 per cent from April, 1942, to May, 1943.

Mrs. Lederman said it was "men like Lewis" who made it possible to get anti-labor legislation through congress. "Our opponents are few, however, and we are many, so we are sure to win out," she said.

She charged that Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio and other legislators, including the "poll tax Democrats from the South," had formed an "unholy alliance" to retard the war program.

"A desperate last-ditch stand is being made by certain forces in Washington to prevent speedy winning of the war, because they know that once a second front is opened, there will be no more time for such capers as we have seen in the capital," Mrs. Lederman added.

She described the Connally-Smith anti-strike bill, now awaiting the president's signature, as representing "all that labor haters want" and expressed the belief that the president would veto it. The bill makes it a felony to promote or lead a strike in a war plant and prohibits labor unions from contributing to political parties in a campaign.

Speaking in behalf of the "white collar" workers who, he said, were hit harder than other groups by rising prices, Jerome W. Shore, regional director of the United Office and Professional Workers union, a CIO affiliate, said Lewis is "carrying out the divide and conquer idea, Hitler's game."

"White-collar workers have been discriminated against, mainly because they have not been organized to battle for their own interests," he said.

Michael Lyden, state president of the A. F. of L., said he hoped that the close friendship between the CIO and A. F. of L. in Ohio would build a new unity in the nation that will help speed up the war production program.

"What's good for labor is good for the whole people," said Ted Silvey, state secretary-treasurer of the CIO.

Individual initiative is not what's needed today, but all Americans working together for the betterment of everybody will help bring success in the conflict and lasting peace, he asserted.

Silvey urged workers to register and vote for candidates who have the interests of organized labor at heart.

Mayor W. J. Locke opened the meeting with a brief greeting in which he said Mansfield labor has a good record and he believed the city's unions would continue to work for the best interests of the community. Also introduced was John L. Catlett, state representative from Richland county.

Local 711 band entertained during the meeting and a government-approved war picture was shown after the talks.

be needed in munitions industries, increasing the total to 11,300,000 he said. Aircraft manufacturing will require an additional 300,000 and shipbuilding 150,000. Enough men will be inducted into armed service to increase the present total by 2,400,000.

A shrinkage of 2,500,000 persons was expected in civilian industries, he said, which will be felt widely but could occur without disrupting minimum, essential civilian needs.

"Ultimate victory depends upon using every last resource at our command," he said. "It may even rest upon how well every last resource is utilized."

Joseph E. Davies, former ambassador to Moscow, said last night that the resistance of the Soviet army "saved our civilization" shortly after Gen. George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, pointed to a clear pattern for triumph which he warned would not be easy, losses heavy, but victory certain.

Marshall told the 35th annual governors conference that the past two years had been a trying period in preparation, but "we have seized the initiative, the most vital factor in the war."

NATURE IGNORES FOOD SQUABBLES

Gives Promise of Excellent Wheat Yield In Midwest.

CHICAGO—(AP)—In the midst of a confused food picture, nature today provided some good news of her own—wheat yields in the southwest were exceeding expectations and corn was making rapid growth in mid-western areas which had experienced record floods several weeks ago.

Legislative battles over subsidy plans, a shortage of corn in major terminals threatening to close refineries, and abnormally small marketing of cattle with a consequent reduction in beef supplies—all these factors continued but didn't stop the weather from being highly favorable for crops.

Growth of wheat has been rapid enough to dissipate fears of stem rust damage.

IT DIDN'T WORK

NEW YORK — (U.P.) — William K. Owens, rounded up with 48 other men as draft dodgers, had a novel idea for beating the draft, FBI agents said, but it didn't work. Owens gave up his job several months ago and began living on a strictly liquid diet. He had hoped the draft board would reject him as a chronic alcholic.

COAL WALKOUT STARTS CHOKING WAR INDUSTRIES

FDR Expected To Act Within 48 Hours; Blast Furnaces Prepare To Shut Down.

were about 4,500 members of the Progressive Miners (AFL) and 8,500 non-union coal diggers.

Illinois—32,500 of the state's 40,000 miners idle in 270 of the 335 workings, including all 25,000 UMW members in 200 mines. Half of the state's 15,000 Progressive Miners also walked out in a sympathy strike.

Alabama—All 22,000 idle, Republic Steel at Birmingham announced a forced 50 per cent reduction in coke production.

Midwest—Indiana's 8,000 and Ohio's 21,000 out.

South—Joining walkout here all of Arkansas' 4,000, Virginia's 23,500, Tennessee's 10,000.

West—Oklahoma's 66 mines, employing 2,300 down; also idle were 6,600 in Colorado, 3,300 in Utah; 2,400 in Washington, 4,100 in Wyoming; 1,800 in New Mexico, 1,300 in Montana, 2,000 in Iowa.

Lewis and the UMW policy committee refused to interfere with the walkout which followed a two-weeks truce between the miners and the operators. The War Labor Board which rejected the union's demands for underground travel pay and ordered the 1941 contract continued for two years, was represented as being just as firm in its stand.

Unquotable sources said the WLB served notice on Ickes any understanding he reaches with Lewis must conform to the board's directive.

Besides the old contract terms, the board granted the miners an increase in vacation pay and allowances for equipment which would raise their daily pay about 25 cents. Underground travel pay, the board insisted, contained a "hidden" increase that would not be allowable under the hold-the-line government policy and was a matter for the courts to decide. Chairman William H. Davis said the miners, on a six-day week, could average $49.60.

Lewis said it was a "yellow dog" contract and would have nothing to do with it.

If usual procedure is followed, the WLB would certify the mine walkout to the president as a case of non-compliance, asking him to enforce its orders. This is done usually after the lapse of a few days.

Urges Strikers' Wives to Help

COLUMBUS—(INS)—It is "the patriotic duty of every miner's wife to urge her husband to return to the coal fields and start digging coal," Mrs. Edward Martin, wife of Pennsylvania's governor, declared today.

"I feel very strongly," asserted Mrs. Martin, "that the miners' wives, most of them mothers of soldiers, should do all in their power to see that their husbands return to the mines."

Mrs. Martin, in Columbus to attend the governors' conference made clear that she spoke from a woman's standpoint, or more specifically from a mother's viewpoint.

"From time immemorial mothers have been willing to give up most everything for their sons or daughters," she observed. "It seems to me that these wives should violently object to their husbands refusing to mine coal when they have sons on the battlefield whose lives are thereby endangered."

Blast Furnaces Close In Pennsylvania

PITTSBURGH—(AP)—First blast furnaces were closed today by iron and steel producers whom the two-day-old coal mine shutdown caught with low supplies of coke and coal. The cumulative result of the three successive miners' walkouts thus hit some sections of the steel industry twice as quickly as during walkout No. 2 early this month.

The Shenango Furnace company, operating two blast furnaces and a foundry at Sharpsville, Pa., made the initial formal announcement that one furnace was "forced down because of no coal, no coke, no fuel."

The giant Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation also began to close the furnaces which make pig iron but did not immediately disclose how many of the 23 it operates in the Pittsburgh district were affected.

chine and Hitler's power," the statement said. "In this way, the plans of the Fascist adventurers which were to reduce the Soviet failed. . . .

"The fighting spirit of the troops is fundamentally undermined in the German army, and even the Hitlerite elements are now burying the hopes of victory. Thus the military power of Germany has been fundamentally shattered as result of two years of war and Germany is facing a serious crisis."

The German rear also was reported disintegrating with the population growing "panicky." In addition, the feeling against the Germans in occupied countries is growing "more threatening," the statement said.

"The hour is near when the military operations of freedom loving people will merge with the armed struggle of oppressed Europeans," the statement declared.

IRISH VOTE

Decide Today Whether De Valera Stays In Office.

DUBLIN — (INS) — Eire voters today went to the polling booths to cast their votes in a general election which will determine whether Eamon De Valera, premier for nearly eleven years, will be returned to office for another term of five years.

As in all previous elections the main tussle is between De Valera's Fianna Fail party and his old enemy William T. Cosgrave's Fine Gael or United Ireland party.

DETROIT RIOTS ENDED AS U. S. TROOPS ARRIVE

today so that they could patrol the public transportation lines. Fights on street cars had become so extensive that some crew men refused to work.

Federal troops came to the city upon Gov. Harry F. Kelly's request as rioting swelled to new peaks late last night with both mob fights and individual battles so numerous that police were virtually helpless.

Two Negroes met death from police guns in a battle at an apartment hotel where, police said, Negro snipers were firing from upper windows. In that fight, Patrolman Lawrence Adams was wounded in the groin.

Time and again fights broke out in the Hastings street district, a section of the city near downtown.

In the nearly 24 hours of almost constant fighting, automobiles were upset and set afire, stores were pillaged, and windows wantonly smashed. One brickbat killed a Negro woman.

Loot was extensive and many arrests were made for theft. In the hospital nurses and doctors were hard-pressed to care for the injured.

Early last night Gov. Kelly, declaring a state of emergency, ordered a 10 p. m. curfew, banned the sale of alcoholic beverages, directed that amusement places close up at 9 p. m. "until further orders."

The governor's order covered the area known as "metropolitan Detroit" with more than 2,000,000 inhabitants.

Rioters ignored the curfew order. Fights continued. Then came the governor's request for troops and on their appearance rioting subsided almost immediately.

Climaxing three years of unrest between Negro and white residents, the rioting began about midnight Sunday. A fight on the bridge over the Detroit river to famous Belle island, amusement spot, spread ultimately into a bedlam.

There had been previous flare-ups in this smouldering situation, aggravated in recent months by housing shortages and heavy influx of war workers from other sections of the country.

New Device Puts Static To Work Removing Itself

AKRON — The static which comes in on a radio set is picked up and set to work eliminating its own noise in a new control announced today by the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company.

The static is reduced from thousands of volts to about one-twenty thousandths of a volt, and the result is like a muffler on an auto, reducing static noise to a purr which does not drown out the radio.

The new system is being tested by military forces under conditions where static is a serious obstacle to radio.

The static eliminator will not be made for the public until after the war. It is a small device, of electronic tubes, made to plug into any radio set.

A new plastic foam, which is like frozen soap bubbles, and almost as light, also announced today, is being used for insulating warplanes against extreme temperatures. It is both non-inflammable and waterproof.

CHAPTER V

In a little room off the office on the dock, Captain Elder and Mr. Rossi were changing into the clothes which had been furnished them.

"Where are you figuring to stop, Joe? Just in case I want to get in touch with you over Sunday?"

"Parker and I are going to get a room at the Chelsea. We've got some suitcases checked there."

"Okay, if anything turns up, I'll phone you . . . Well, now I'll say so-long to the men, and then shove off."

"I bet Mrs. Elder'll be surprised to see you, Dave!"

"Yes, I guess she will. I only wish I could go home to her right now!"

"Hunh? Why—where are you going from here?"

"Over to the office, of course! I can't get a new ship in Flatbush, can I?"

After making his report to his owners, Captain Elder walked through streets swarming with the crowd of a New York Saturday noon. He glanced curiously at the faces, faces, faces all around him. Some looked thoughtful, a few appeared worried, but most were carefree and happy. "Funny!" he muttered, "they don't seem to realize that this corner's less than ten miles from the sea!—From the war!—From the front!"

Struggling through the mob that milled in the subway, he boarded a Coney Island train and wedged himself in an angle on the platform. As he did so, an express flashed past with a rush and a roar which caused him to flinch violently against his neighbor.

"S'matter, Bud?" inquired the passenger, scowling. "Dintcha ever have a train go by ya before?"

"Yes," said Captain Elder, meekly, "But did you ever have a shell go over your head?"

"Hunh? Shell over my head?—Ya mean I look like a toitle or an erster or sumpin? Well, say! If you wasn't such a helpless old punk, I'd knock yer ears down for ya! I'd . . ." But suddenly the fellow saw kindling in Captain Elder's eye a glint which caused him to bite off his blustering in the middle. He paled, precipitately, he shoved his way into the car, glancing over his shoulder as though pursued by wolves.

Emerging from the train, Captain Elder breathed deeply of God's good air and then headed up the tree-fringed street toward his home. The houses on both sides were small and unpretentious but uniformly neat and comfortable. Uniformly so, that is, save for his own. His heart swelled with pride as he came within sight of it, for it looked just a little neater, just a little more comfortable, than any other house on the block.

"Oh, hello, there, Cap'n!" the postman greeted him. "I thought you was off at sea somewheres!"

"No. I—er . . . Well, I'm taking this Saturday off."

"Gee! Pretty soft!" said the postman, enviously.

* * *

Elder halted midway up the path which crossed the little strip of lawn and considered the flower bed planted to one side of it. This was a special bed of his very own contriving; it was his pride, his joy and his chiefest horticultural jewel. To an eye less prejudiced the arrangement of red, white, blue and yellow blossoms might have seemed without method, even slightly scrambled. But to him its proud creator, it was exactly, unmistakably and beautifully what he had intended it to be—the shield and anchor insignia of the United States Merchant Marine. "Gosh!" he murmured, "When I planted 'em, I never dreamed they'd come up as lovely as this!" . . . He stooped to pick a white flower to take in to his wife and when he arose, she was standing there beside him.

"David!" she said, "Oh, my darling!"

She leaned back in his arms and looked up into his face. "David!" she whispered. "What happened?"

He shrugged. Oh—why, they sank us. Then, they sort of rammed the lifeboat."

She gave a little gasp and pressed herself closer to him.

"Was it—very bad, dear?"

"We lost twelve men."

"Twelve men?" He felt her stiffen in his arms. "Twelve men? Oh, you've—we've got to stop it, David! We've got to! When are you going back to sea?"

"Soon as I can get another ship." He put his arm around her waist and, slowly, they entered the house.

Gratefully, he stretched out on the sofa. Mrs. Elder sat beside him and held his hand. "Do you want to tell me about it, David, or would you rather not?"

"Oh, what's the good? It was the same as any other sinking. Next week, or the week after, you'll be able to read all about it in the papers. Hunh! You can even see us in the newsreel, if you want to!"

She made a little gesture, as though dismissing such things as trivial. "No, I don't want to! All I want is to get this finished—over with—won! Nothing else matters. How could it?"

He patted her cheek. "My little sweet!" he said. "My own brave darling! Tell me, Mommy, how have you been?"

"Oh, busy! Sewing for the Red Cross! Look!" She waved gaily toward a work basket which lay overturned on the floor, with spools, scissors and needle-cushions strewn around it. Then her face turned serious. "I was sewing, just now, when I saw—when I saw—somebody—coming across the lawn. I knew it couldn't be you and I thought—I thought it was a man from the office with . . . Oh, David!" and suddenly she was sobbing, her face buried against him. "Oh, my Davey, my Davey boy! It's the suspense, the waiting—that's the dreadful part! At every footstep on the walk, every jingle of the phone, every newscast on the radio—my heart stops beating and just turns to ice! Wherever I am—whatever I'm doing—that cold, dark, terrible dread hangs between me and everything else. It—it even gets between me and the sun!"

"There—there—come, now, my precious!" he soothed her. "That—thing which you feel between you and the sun is exactly what we've got to wipe out! Life won't be worth a damn until we do wipe it out! Well . . ." he grasped her hand and squeezed it, and smiled as he felt her firm answering grip, "Well, let's hurry and do it, eh?"

"Of course!"

"At—a—girl!" He kissed her. "And now, what's the news? Seen Adelaide lately?"

"Not since last week. She and Howard are coming over for dinner tomorrow noon."

"Is she—are they all right?"

"Just fine! Howard thinks they're going to send his admiral on a mission to Europe, and of course he'll go along as aide."

"M'mph! That's good! They say travel improves the mind!" he said, grumpily.

"Now, don't start that, Old Jealous!"

"M'mph! Well, how about some lunch, then?"

"What would you like, Dave?"

"What have you got?"

"Whatever you feel like."

"I feel like whatever's the easiest to make."

"Well, come out in the kitchen, then, and watch me while I fix some bacon and eggs, some chicken salad, some chops and some asparagus."

"Okay!" he said. "But mind you, I only want something light."

They rose from the sofa, laughing, and walked arm in arm toward the kitchen. But halfway to the door he halted suddenly. "Look, Mommie," he said, "I think it might be a good idea to have Adelaide and Howie come over for supper tonight, instead of waiting till tomorrow . . ."

"Oh!" she said, "Oh, so you think—you really think you may be called—very soon, David?"

He smiled at her. "Well, I just think it might be a good idea to have them come over tonight," he answered, pinching her cheek.

GIRL FRIENDS OF GREMLINS APPEAR IN SOUTH PACIFIC

(By International News Service)

SOMEWHERE IN NEW GUINEA—Gremlins assigned to harass Allied pilots and air crews in New Guinea have girl friends. They are glemlasses. Unlike the male of the species, who are constant passengers on operational flights, they go to work on the boys who service the planes.

Probably their motto runs something like: "We keep 'em from keeping 'em flying."

A few inches tall, shaped tantalizingly like pin-up girls, and not overclad (since they work in tropic heat), gremlasses are especially real to mechanics and armament men who have been more than six months in the combat zone.

One of their favorite tricks is to pour rain water into drums of 100 octane gasoline; others delight in carrying off screwdrivers and pliers when they are most needed; others heat canteens of drinking water to near the boiling point.

Some have been reported wearing grass skirts, but it seems this is not generally favored, as it interferes with their work when striking matches around gasoline dumps.

Being female, they talk constantly. "I bet she married that 4F guy," and "There must be some reason why she doesn't write so often now," are typical exerpts from the tireless one-way conversations they keep up.

Another worrisome trick is an uncanny knack they have of assuming the likeness of that special girl back home.

To make things more difficult for the harassed ground crew boys, pilots always ready to vouch for the existence of gremlins are openly scornful on the subject of gremlasses.

For this reason it sometimes goes hard with a mechanic who is found sleeping blissfully under a pursuit ship's wing which should have been checked hours before.

The irate pilot doesn't always realize that the sleeping one has been knocked on the head by a spanner expertly wielded by a mischievous gremlass!

The first airplane flight by Orville Wright at Kitty Hawk, N. C., lasted only 12 seconds.

Ohio, California, Bay State Governors Chat

THREE OF THE NATION'S outstanding state executives, Governors John Bricker of Ohio, Earl Warren of California and Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts, left to right, are caught by the camera at Columbus, O., where 36 of the nation's state chiefs gathered for the annual conference of governors. Bricker, host to the conclave, is a leading Republican presidential hopeful. In a fervent appeal for more militant home front prosecution of the war, Governor Warren said, "No more dangerous step could be taken than to release as harmless many of the interned Japanese."

GUESTS' COATS STOLEN

BERKELEY, Cal.—(U.P.)—Emily Post having apparently failed to advise the American public sufficiently that guests should not park their coats on a bed too close to an open window, four guests of Mr. and Mrs. Richard S. Johnson are coatless. While all were listening to the radio, a long-armed thief extended his arm through the window and relieved the bed of its unaccustomed weight.

BOLIVIA INDIANS UNAWARE OF WAR

LA PAZ, Bolivia—(U.P.)—The Rev. Gerard Grondin of Westbrook, Me., a Maryknoll missioner, plunged deep into South American wilderness to learn that the term "global war" is, at best, a mild overstatement.

Journeying by canoe down the Acre (Aquiry) river in the remote rubber country that divides Bolivia and Brazil, Father Grondin was startled to learn that thousands of his Indian parishioners, whom he was meeting for the first time, did not know the world is at war.

Still more incredible was the fact that many had never heard of the United States and few of Father Grondin's parishioners, though born to the Catholic faith, had ever seen a priest until he came among them.

SENDS MILLIONTH DRESSING

BERKELEY, Cal.—(U.P.)—The Berekeley Chapter of the Red Cross just completed its 1,000,000th surgical dressing and dispatched it to the armed forces. The big output was accomplished in 22 days by 2,000 volunteer workers.

"Molly McGee speaking—about the War!"

"Mind if I talk about the War for a minute? It's a subject pretty close to every woman these days. Most women are doing something about it, and lots of us could be doing more. But as long as American boys are fighting and dying, none of us can possibly do enough.

"I get letters from women all over America, and many of them read like this: 'Molly McGee, I save waste kitchen fats, flatten tin cans, collect metal scrap and buy War Bonds . . . and that's fine. But it isn't enough—I don't have that God-given feeling of satisfaction that comes with doing all I can in this War. What more can I do?'

"So we asked the War Manpower Commission for suggestions on War Womanpower. And here they are, girls—the things women can be doing to beat the Axis!

"Every woman who can, should take a full or part-time job where she'll be most useful. A few of the jobs are listed below. And remember this: even the least of them is terribly important, and needs to be filled right now!"

"Will you take one of these War Jobs?"
Nurses and Attendants for Hospitals, Public Health and Dental Clinics, Industrial First Aid Stations, etc.
Teachers of all elementary and high school grades, Librarians, Social Workers, School Clerks and Stenographers.
Bus Drivers, Street Car and Train Conductors, Ticket Sellers, Baggage Clerks, Railroad Section Hands...other jobs in transportation.
Telegraph Operators and Messengers, Switchboard and Teletype Operators and other communications work.
Day Nursery Supervisors, Playground Instructors and other jobs working with children.
Dietitians, Cooks, Kitchen Helpers . . . there are lots of vacancies in Industrial Nutrition, also public eating places.
Laundry and Dry Cleaning Workers of every description, Hotel help, Department Store and Retailer personnel.
The U. S. Employment Service in or near your community has a list of urgent vacancies you may be able to fill . . . jobs where women can replace men for active service.

Mansfield News-Journal

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, TUESDAY, JUNE 22, 1943.

Charlie Chaplin has ceased to be funny—now he's merely obnoxious.

When strikes come, it is heartening to remember that an enormous majority of American workers keep on the job.

According to General Wingate, "the Jap can't solve an original problem alone and unaided"—so they would also probably have difficulty figuring out John L. Lewis.

Better Defense Against U-Boats

EVIDENCE of substantial gains in the battle against Nazi submarines in the Atlantic is another of the encouraging signs in the war against the Axis.

Early heavy losses of Allied shipping, as a result of widespread operation of German U-boats, led to a boast by Goebbels that Great Britain would be starved into submission, "just as Germany was starved in the last war."

Just as with other phases of the war, the Allies were not prepared for quick aggressive action against the unexpectedly large number of submarines Hitler was able to unleash in the Atlantic and for many months there were staggering losses of ships, crews and cargoes.

In recent months, however, new defense weapons against U-boat attacks on convoys have been developed and the controlled German press now admits that Hitler's trump card—the U-boat—has failed to take the winning trick.

With this admission indications are mounting that the European Axis is now definitely resigned to defensive warfare and is being kept busy planning to ward off the approaching Allied invasion instead of planning new aggressive moves—except possibly a final suicidal thrust against Russia.

Value In Public Forum Meetings

EXEMPLIFICATION of democracy in action is provided in meetings such as that held at the Park theater last night, under sponsorship of the public affairs committee of the CIO-AFL joint council.

Public forum meetings of this kind, for discussion of subjects of community, state, national and international interest, have great value in the opportunities thus given for spread of information and encouragement of thought.

Excellent speakers at last night's meeting presented various phases of union labor's views on state and national issues, pledged loyal co-operation in the national war effort, scathingly rebuked John L. Lewis as a traitor to his country, and looked forward to a wider spread of prosperity in the post-war era.

As has been said before, Mansfield is fortunate in the sound leadership of various branches of organized labor represented in this community and in the cordiality of relations existing between employes and employers. With fuller understanding of the mutuality of interests, and with such conformity to the legitimate purposes of organized labor as has been evidenced in this community, there is justification for belief that similar principles and practices can eventually be extended throughout the country.

Such frank discussions of public questions as those which had a place on last night program will be helpful in opening the way to better understanding of mutual problems of management and labor.

Housing Project for Mansfield

MANSFIELD has obvious need for several hundred new homes which may be made possible through the federal housing project which has been recommended by William K. Divers, regional federal housing director and in which Congressman J. Harry McGregor has displayed an active interest.

Much contemplated home-building in and around Mansfield has been delayed by inability to secure materials and if this obstacle can be removed there is little doubt that private capital would provide a considerable percentage of requirements for moderate-priced homes.

Many Mansfielders are owners of city or suburban lots on which they intend to build a home as soon as restrictions on necessary materials are removed.

A housing project fitted to community needs, with private capital and federal funds available to meet varied needs, would seem to be an admirable solution of the local problem of providing sufficient residence units to accommodate this city's growing population.

Detroit's Outbreak of Violence

CIVILIZATION'S thin veneer broke under the strain imposed upon it Sunday night and yesterday in Detroit and traits of savagery took precedence over the hard-learned lessons of proper behavior.

While official action will probably include efforts to trace causes and fix blame, the whole orgy of violence, rowdyism and looting apparently hinges on difficulties involved in racial adjustment to constitutional provisions for equality of opportunity.

Detroit's high percentage of Negro population, coupled with recent frequency of labor disturbances, makes the city peculiarly susceptible to such occurrences as this, and it is vitally important that some effective remedy be quickly found to avoid even worse outbreaks than have thus far occurred.

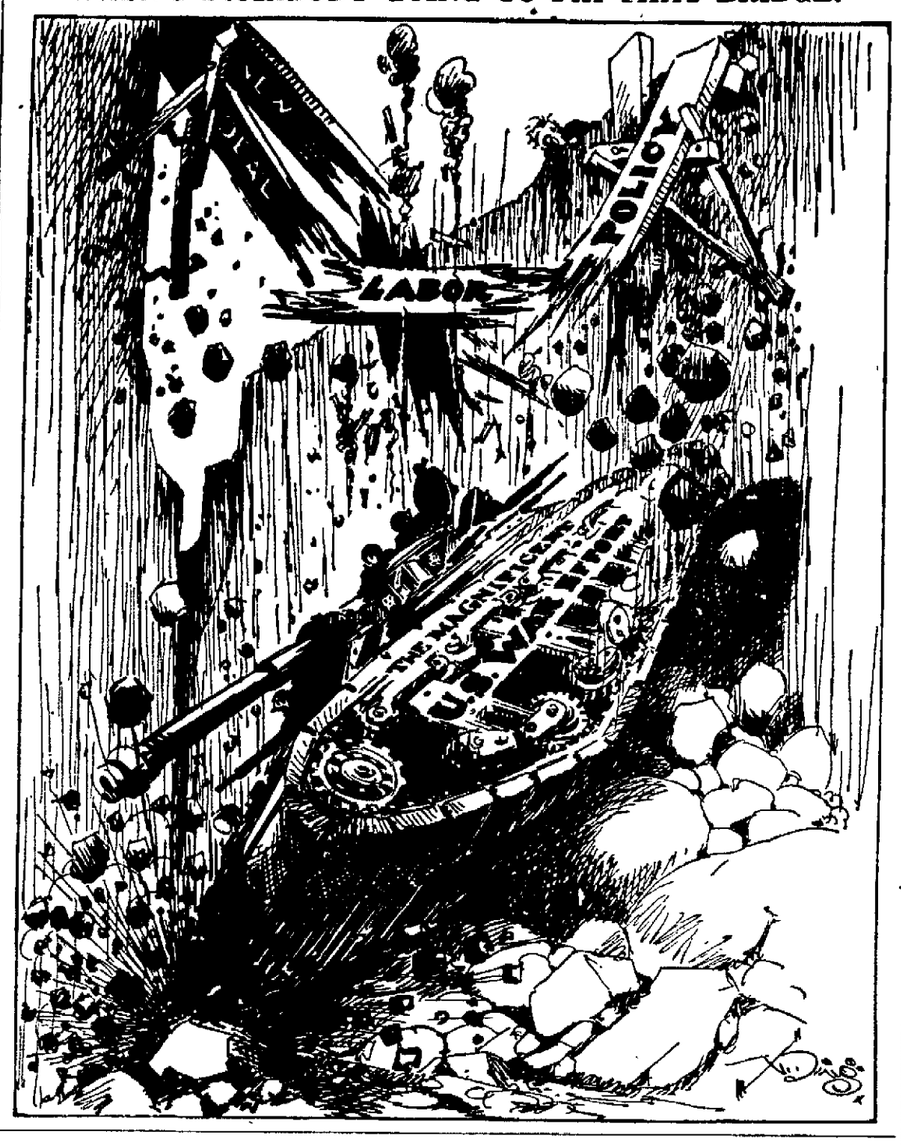
Good News for Fuel Oil Users

JOHN DEAN, director of the OPA fuel rationing division, says there will be a more dependable supply of oil for the coming winter. There will not necessarily be more than there was last winter, but it will be under better control and more uniformly supplied. "Oil will be delivered in sufficient quantity to cities and dealers to match the ration coupons issued by OPA. The coupon won't be a hunting license this year. Dealers will have the oil in stock."

As for special cases or emergencies, it is promised that supplemental provision of oil will be available for consumers who can convince their own rationing boards that they need it. Owners of private dwellings, it is said, will not be compelled to convert their plants to a different kind of heating. This will reassure many oil users who have been willing to convert but foresaw great difficulty in doing so. Another reassuring thing is that simpler oil ration forms have been provided for consumers.

An encouraging feature of the collaboration agreement between Russia, Great Britain and the United States is that it isn't in writing.

WASN'T SOMEBODY GOING TO FIX THAT BRIDGE?



Cabinet's War Powers Waning

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON — When is a cabinet not a cabinet? The answer is when this country is at war and the president is Mr. Roosevelt.

With the Office of War Mobilization now functioning, it is becoming more apparent daily that President Roosevelt has by-passed most of his cabinet in delegating wartime powers.

Only three of the ten members of the cabinet by right of office, have real authority at the council tables, and one of these—Secretary of State Hull—retains his importance by personal influence with the president, rather than by co-operative effort in the circle that now is running this war in all fields but that of military strategy.

Oddly enough the only two cabinet members who still are powerful are Republican Secretaries—Stimson of war, and Knox of navy. That is because both have done excellent jobs as spokesmen for the armed forces and because in their three-year tenures, the greatest army and navy the United States ever conceived has risen to such strength and efficiency.

HAROLD L. ICKES' star has risen again since we got into the war but that is because of his activities as Solid Fuels and Petroleum adiministrator rather than as secretary of interior.

Henry Morgenthau, jr. still speaks with authority on tax matters but it is considered a certainty here that it will be Economic Stabilizer Fred M. Vinson, who will carry the tax ball for OWM from now on—not the secretary of the treasury.

Jesse Jones has more importance as head of the Reconstruction Finance corporation than as secretary of commerce. A recent chart that included even minor war mobilization agency heads didn't even list Jones.

Attorney General Biddle gets an occasional mention as prosecutor of war frauds, but little more. Frank C. Walker continues to get some headlines as chairman of the Democratic national committee, but few as postmaster general. James A. Farley turned over a smoothly functioning department to Walker and the present No. 1 postman has been content to let that machine handle the problems of wartime mail.

FRANCES PERKINS, as secretary of labor, has lost much authority on labor matters since the war started and the recent strengthening of the powers of the War Labor board. Claude R. Wickard has seen much of his vital powers as secretary of agriculture, in so far as they apply to wartime food supply and distribution, pass to Food Administrator Chester Davis.

Davis, however, is just one of the "czars," and some think that the general food policies—like the general policies of all the "czars" (prices, fuel, manpower, labor, transportation, and rubber)—will be made in the east wing of the White House when James F. Byrnes calls his five OWM colleagues in for conferences.

On OWM, too, particularly on Vinson and Byrnes, will fall the job of refereeing conflicts that arise out of the maze of overlapping authorities in the already existent war agencies.

They can't do that by delegating important tasks to the now "inactive" members of the official cabinet. That would only be compounding confusion. It looks as if the president's cabinet, for the most part, is waning for the duration.

Baldness Hereditary

I HAVE had a number of letters recently from people who want to know the cause and prevention of baldness. If I knew this, I probably wouldn't be writing newspaper articles, but would be living in luxury on the fruits of my knowledge, surrounded by flunkeys who were waiting on me hand and foot.

It must be evident to anyone who goes around his fellow creatures that nobody known the cause and cure of baldness. Sit in the back row of a movie theater, notice the reflection of the light on the bald domes and mark the neat tonsures below the line where the hair stops. If there was a good treatment, you would not see them.

The best bet is that baldness is hereditary. The hair is extremely sensitive to hereditary influences. Identical twins have hair that swirls, one in one direction and the other in the opposite. Naturally curly hair curls with remarkable similarity to that of the father or mother of the possessor. The number of waves and the position of the waves is exactly the same. The hereditary nature of hair growth is shown in all of the lower animals.

Dogs of one species have, generation after generation, the same hair color and distribution. So it is very likely that baldness is hereditary. This is no comfort to anybody who has it, however, because by the time he begins to get bald, there is nothing he can do about his father or grandfather.

No Help For Baldness.

The hair roots are little cellular structures and in a person who is doomed to get bald, they begin to atrophy at about the age of 28. Nobody who goes through the experience of having his hair come out in wads can ever believe that people begin to get bald at the age of 28, but they do just the same and nothing can stop the inevitable progress.

All the perfumes of Araby, all the lights, all the electric heaters, all the massage, all the gadgets, all the shampoos, all the vitamins and all the endocrines in the world can be advocated, but it will be in vain. Philosophy and resignation are the only treatments that are worthwhile.

The care of healthy hair is not a matter of very much moment. Those who give a great deal of time and thought to their hair probably overtreat it, rather than undertreat it. The simplest forms of soap and warm water are the best for washing the hair, and thorough washing should not be done more than once a week.

Advice against wetting the hair daily is quackery. I know a dozen people—one of them being myself—who have immersed their hair in water two or three times a day for many years and who still have a good heavy crop of hair.

Dave Boone Says:

THIRTY-NINE hotels in Philadelphia have cut out room service, breakfast in bed, fresh sheets and all towels in excess of one face and one bath towel. Some hotels in New York and other cities are doing the same. The towel ban will be a blow to the traveling public. What's it going to wipe its shoes with?

* * *

Anybody who's stopped at a hotel lately has realized the operating troubles. If you made a complaint you had to make another to find out what had become of it. And as for room service, you've had to wire ahead and reserve a waiter and tray.

* * *

Well, the service in American hotels has been too, too de luxe for years. It's educated the public to expect too much. Folks looked for comforts that they'd never dare ask for at home. It always seemed a little nervy to me to stay in bed on the thirty-fifth floor and ask a clerk on the second mezzanine to have a waiter on the first floor go down to the sub-basement and bring up a soft-boiled egg right away.

* * *

I just looked over the ODT suggestions for vacations. One of 'em says: "Go to one place and stay there." I called up Joe Eastman and asked him where to go. He told me. And is my face red?

Byrnes Takes Issue With FDR On Advocacy of British Price Plans

WASHINGTON—What really happened at the White House conference called to discuss the question of one overall food "czar" was that the president jumped the gun on his congressional callers.

Before they could get started with their own demands he gave them a 10-minute talk on how Great Britain was meeting its food problems. Although the president didn't come out and say so flatly, his remarks were calculated to show that the United States eventually will have to come around to (1) total mobilization of labor and (2) price subsidies to reduce prices.

The president pointed out that there was no such thing as a critical labor shortage in essential British industries such as canneries. All British labor had been mobilized to meet the emergency, he said, and could be moved about wherever most needed.

He pointed out that the British government controlled and directed all industry—farming, manufacturing, distribution and processing. "They tell labor and management what to do, and when and how to do it," he added.

The president's ideas met with varied reactions. Republican Leader Senator McNary of Oregon and House Republican Joe Martin of Massachusetts opposed price subsidization. So did Senator Walter George of Georgia, chairman of the finance committee, and GOP Representative James Wadsworth of New York. On the other hand, New Deal Senator Joseph F. Guffey of Pennsylvania was opposed to the total mobilization of labor.

When his callers finally had a chance to propose the appointment of an overall food "czar," the president replied that this step was no longer necessary because of the recent establishment of the Office of War Mobilization, headed by Justice Byrnes.

He said the OWM should be given a chance to work, and he deprecated warnings by several of his visitors that the United States might face a food shortage before the war ended. He maintained there would be "enough calories" to sustain the civilian population if food were properly distributed and the national diet properly balanced.

McNary Wins a Point.

THE ONLY congressional caller who came away from the White House with any real concession was Charley McNary, the champion of the canners. McNary first asked for an increase in ceiling prices for canned goods. To this the president replied:

"Then Mr. Murray and Mr. Green will come along with demands for higher wages."

He went on to emphasize once more how the British had held their food costs down. At this point Justice Jimmy Byrnes interposed a polite interruption.

"I'm sorry, Mr. President, but I have to disagree with you there," he said, and explained that the British situation was not at all analagous to ours.

"They don't raise much food over there," he pointed out. "They get it from us."

Byrnes gave a brief but detailed exposition during which the president listened carefully. His only remark was: "Winston told me they handled that very well over there."

Upshot of the conversation was that Byrnes was asked to talk to the War Labor Board about permitting an increase in wages for cannery workers, so the canners could compete with the high wages paid in shipyards and airplane plants.

Age and Youth.

PATRIOTIC Ferd Eberstadt, who has been trying to get into active military service ever since he resigned as vice-chairman of the War Production Board, had a session with venerable Secretary of War Stimson recently.

Eberstadt has refused various non-combat war jobs, has wanted to get into the fighting. However, he is 53, just three years too old, and the army has objected. When Eberstadt took his case to Stimson, however, the secretary of war upheld his subordinates.

"You're too old," Stimson replied firmly.

"I thought that age didn't matter," shot back Eberstadt with a smile at the 75-year old secretary of war.

"After all," he continued, "I'm no older than you were when I served in your regiment in the last war."

But the records show that when Stimson served as colonel in the 305th Field Artillery in World War I, he was 50 years old and just within the combat age deadline. Eberstadt who was a captain in the same regiment, is now three years over that, so definitely will not get combat duty.

Merry-Go-Round.

ONE THING for which GOP chieftains have never forgiven Wendell Willkie was a $100 contribution to the presidential campaign of Paul McNutt not long before Willkie himself ran for president in 1940. ERNIE PYLE — Roving Reporter

Here's How You Buy Ivory In Africa; Visit to Headquarters of Free French Movement.

SOMEWHERE IN AFRICA—(By Wireless)—Brazzaville is the capital of French Equatorial Africa. It is also the original headquarters of the entire Free French movement throughout the world.

You'd have to search a long time for a more remote spot in which to center a world movement, but at the time France went under there weren't many French territories left to harbor Germans.

Brazzaville has been mostly just an executive war capital, fighting only with the radio, with plans, with decisions. General de Gaulle has been there a number of times, but no actual movement or concentration of war goods has ever occurred there. It's just too far away from anywhere.

Brazzaville is on the opposite bank of the Congo River from Leopoldville. The river there is about a mile and a half wide. You cross in a motor launch, which runs every half hour. Natives sit in the front part, and whites in the rear.

Brazzaville is to Leo what West Memphis, Ark., is to Memphis, Tenn. It is small in comparison and everybody goes to Leo for his better shopping and entertainment. Brazzaville has a few paved streets a few nice homes, but mostly it is a native village.

THERE is one thing you do go to Brazzaville for, however, and that's to buy ivory. It is one of the best places in Africa for ivory carvings. I wanted to get some to ship home, so I collected a friend and we went across the river.

This friend was Capt. Phil Ross (now a major), formerly an independent oil operator in San Antonio, Tex. Buying ivory is one of his hobbies. He knows the values down to a centime, and he has a way of haggling with the natives—a boisterous pretense of being insulted and angry at the prices they ask—that tickles them to death.

When we got off the launch about a hundred black boys came charging down as though we were a citadel and they were storming us. They were all richsha pullers.

Knowing how this thing works in other countries, I quickly picked out one boy on the theory that he would save me from the rest. But it doesn't work that way in Brazzaville. The others continued to yell, grab, push and haul at my defenseless person until we were a hundred yards down the road. Real chamber-of-commerce go-getters, those Brazzaville boys.

A Brazzaville richsha is something new under the sun. It has only one wheel. This wheel is nicely rubber-tired, and about the size of a motorcycle wheel. It sits in the center right beneath your seat. A framework of shafts extends fore and aft, and it takes two boys to balance and pull the thing.

Brazzaville is full of richshas but for some strange reason there are none at all in Leo, ten minutes away.

WE WENT into the heart of the native section and finally pulled up before a mud house. An ivory dealer lived there. He got out his supply from a wooden truck, spread it out on the bare ground of the hallway that ran along the front of his house, and we began bargaining.

The grapevine carried the word rapidly over town, and pretty soon other dealers began to arrive with their ivory tied up in white rags. They would sit and watch the proceedings for a while and then slowly untie their stuff and very gradually enter the bargaining.

They were all Negroes, dressed mostly in loosely flowing white gowns. About a dozen finally came. These were not ivory carvers, but merely traders.

They looked like plain jungle Negroes, yet they were acute business men. When the American troops first arrived, ivory prices skyrocketed, but when we were there most of the troops had gone and prices consequently had nosedived again.

Some of the Negroes spoke a few words of English, and Captain Ross knew a few words of French. Between them we bargained, laughed and haggled there on the ground for three solid hours. We bought bracelets, Negro busts, sollid ivory elephants, beautiful madonnas, knife-and-fork salad sets, dainty pairs of antelopes, turtles, necklaces.

It was more like an auction than a private transaction. I kept books on the thing—whenever Captain Ross would finally strike a deal for something he would lay it aside and I would put down a description of the article and its cost, on the back of an envelope. When we were finally finished we had more than 50 separate pieces and they ran into thousanrs of francs.

I added up the figures, Captain Ross added them up, and two of the Negroes added them up. I don't think they could add, but they said the total was correct. Anyhow we paid a lump sum to one man and left it up to them to thresh out the division among themselves.

How they ever got it straightened out I don't know.

A Farmer's Diary

By CALVIN A. BYERS

Thunder Shower

I STOOD beside a pile of seasoned boards upon the high grassy hilltop and looked far out across the valley. It was a sweet June day with a south wind that made continuous waves of bluegrass struggle up the steep hillside. Below was my neighbor's corn field, the long straight rows like pale green pin stripes upon the damp, dark background. A herd of white, roan and faun cattle grazed in the creek pasture.

Honey Creek was hiding beneath its low green banks. Farther east giant elms, vase shaped, rose and arched above it. A triangular barley field was whitening for harvest. Wooden hills rimmed the distant fields in darkening shades of green.

Above the hills, rose great thunder-heads—arching domes pointed spires, mystic temples. Quick irregular skeins of lightning played about the cloud base and low distant thunder rumbled. A current rose from the earth, and was met by a bluer, bolder streak of zigzag fire that seemed to cleave the cloud. Thunder vibrated the stone I sat upon.

A timid heifer raised her head toward the coming storm and lowed. Sheep moved in the direction of a sheltering hedge. A farmer stopped his team near the center of his cornfield, gazed at the threatening clouds, then hastily prodded his weary, sweaty team toward the end. A near neighbor, mowing clover, hurried with his team toward the barn. Like a heap of green, a load of new-cured hay moved slowly toward the highway from another field. Its trailing flanks rippled as the wheels dipped and rose on the uneven ground. The team appeared like ponies, the driver a mere dot half buried in the hay.

A housewife hurried from her porch to get a scattered flock of half-grown chicks into the brooder house. She rushed the stragglers and gathered them into her apron, until the last stubborn one was caught. A light gray curtain of rain blurred the distant woods.

Large drops like hail spattered on the pile of lumber, near. I sought shelter on the eastern side, beneath the protruding boards. They were warm, and heat waves rose from the openings between. The storm broke suddenly and a yellow hammer sought shelter a few inches from my arm. A pair of mourning doves crept quietly into a niche. A young rabbit scurried hastily in for shelter. Rain beat heavily upon the boards above me and mist dampened well my summer clothes.

When the storm was over, I watched the yellow hammer fly to a tall oak and heard him laugh. The doves crept out and flew together to the open field. The rabbit still sat frozen in his tiny cell.

Average Soldier Better Fed Than In Civil Life

FORT BENNING, Ga.—(INS)—"The average soldier is better fed in the army than he was in civilian life," according to Capt. Arthur L. Anderson, Fort Benning food and nutrition officer and former professor of applied nutrition at Iowa State college.

"Whenever it is available, the soldier receives the best in butter, eggs, and meat, and is made to eat at regular hours, which was not always true in civilian life," the officer pointed out.

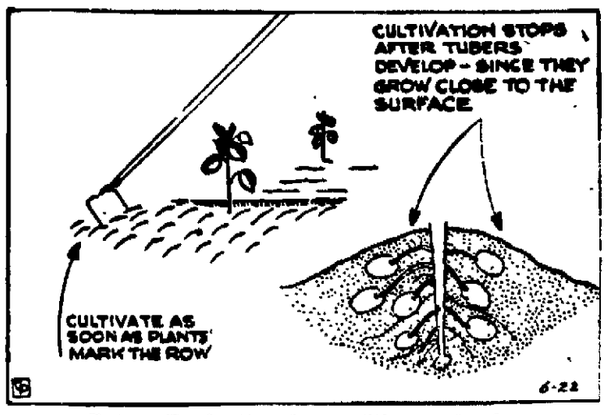
The work of skilled specialists, the diet of America's fighting men is tops, he explained. Every field ration mess menu receives careful preparation by the local quartermaster, aided by a nutrition expert, and is finally approved by the post menu board, the captain continued.

"Our job," he said, "is to plan menus so that the proper amount of vitamins and nutritionally adequate foods are included in the diet,"

Capt. Anderson said nutrition officers also inspect the mess halls and eat in them at set times in order to check cleanliness and see that waste is cut to a minimum.

Red foxes eat grapes to round out their diet.

Today's VICTORY GARDEN-GRAPH



CULTIVATION STOPS AFTER TUBERS DEVELOP - SINCE THEY GROW CLOSE TO THE SURFACE
CULTIVATE AS SOON AS PLANTS MARK THE ROW
6-22

Potato Production In the Victory Garden.

By DEAN HALLIDAY
Released by Central Press Ass'n.

WELL PREPARED soil is as essential for potatoes as for any other Victory garden crop

As soon as potato plants are showing enough to indicate the rows, thorough cultivation should be given and the soil kept in condition throughout the growing season, as illustrated in the accompanying Garden-Graph. Occasional hand hoeing will be found necessary to keep the ground free of weeds Keeping the soil loose and well aerated will result in a steady growth of the potato plants

As the potato plants develop cultivation should be shallow to prevent injury to the roots. The soil should be cultivated until the plants are large enough to fill the rows and have begun to set tubers. Since these tubers are frequently close to the soil surface, as illustrated, further tillage might injure them to considerable degree.

The red fox is also colored silver, black and yellow.

TEACH ADULTS HOW TO LIVE

ST. LOUIS—(INS)—Victory clinics are being conducted in St Louis under joint sponsorship of the Office of Civilian Defense and the Board of Education.

Their primary purpose, like that of the Victory garden by which you grow your own food, is to teach adults how to conserve clothing and food.

At the initial class, several women demonstrators appeared dressed in suits made from clothes their husbands had outgrown.

The clinics show motion pictures that depict proper care of clothing, how to do small repair jobs, how to launder and dry-clean clothing, and how to operate a home on a wartime basis.

The TIRE OF TOMORROW is here TODAY!

THE WORLD-FAMOUS FIRESTONE DeLuxe Champion TIRE IS NOW BEING MADE WITH

Firestone Butaprene

THE MARVELOUS New SYNTHETIC RUBBER

JUST as you'd expect, Firestone is FIRST to build the tire of tomorrow for the car owners of America. It is only natural that Firestone should be the leader in working out new processes, in creating new compounds and in building better tires from American-made rubber, for Firestone has always been the pioneer in developing new materials, new methods and new machines that have resulted in tremendous advancements in tire design, construction and performance.

From Firestone have come such revolutionary improvements as the FIRST straight side tire, the FIRST rubber non-skid tread, the FIRST commercial demountable rim, the FIRST patented Gum-Dipping Process, the FIRST balloon tire, the FIRST Safti-Lock Cord Body, the FIRST Super-Speed Construction and the FIRST practical pneumatic tractor tire.

In 1933, Firestone built the FIRST synthetic rubber airplane tires for our armed forces. In 1934, Firestone built its FIRST synthetic rubber passenger car tires. In 1940, Firestone FIRST went into production on synthetic rubber passenger car tires and began the manufacture of its own synthetic rubber, called Butaprene, the same type that was later adopted by the Government. In 1942, Firestone became the FIRST company to produce synthetic rubber in a Government-owned plant and later became the FIRST to make synthetic rubber using butadiene made from grain alcohol. And today Firestone is making synthetic rubber tires for passenger cars, trucks, buses, airplanes, tractors, farm implements and all types of war vehicles.

All of these years of experience, all of the knowledge that made these FIRSTS possible have been called upon in producing the new Firestone DeLuxe Champion Tire made with Firestone Butaprene. It is now ready for the car owners of America as released by the Government. But do not think that the crisis is past. America's greatest rubber supply is still on the wheels of its 27,000,000 cars. So you must continue all of the rubber conservation measures that have been so effective. However, if you are eligible and require new tires, remember this — in mileage, in strength and in safety the new Firestone DeLuxe Champion Tire upholds the Firestone tradition of "Best in Rubber — Synthetic or Natural."

GWYNEDD MEYERS WED IN LUTHERAN CHURCH

Former Mansfielder Becomes Bride of Paul H. Kramb of Cleveland; Bride's Sisters Are Attendants at Sunday Service.

REV. HERMAN L. GILBERT officiated in a Sunday service at the St. Paul Lutheran church when Paul H. Kramb of Cleveland took as his bride Miss Gwynedd Meyers, formerly of this city, now of Cleveland. The couple exchanged vows at 2 p. m., after a program of nuptial music played by O. L. Seybold at the organ.

Among his selections were "Ave Maria" by Franz Schubert, "Indian Love Call," by Rudolf Friml and "I Love You Truly," by Carrie Jacobs Bond. He also played the traditional wedding marches.

Theron Meyers, brother of the bride, escorted her down the aisle and to the altar banked with palms and ferns and gave her in marriage. Altar vases of Picardy gladioli and white delphinium and seven branched candelabra completed the church decorations.

The bride was attired in a lovely gown of white marquisette, styled with a hoop skirt with a slight sweeping train, and Bishop sleeves. The slipper satin bodice was trimmed with seed pearls. The back closed with tiny covered buttons to the waist. The bride wore her finger tip length veil virgin style. It was held in place by a tiara trimmed with seed pearls. The arm bouquet carried by the bride was comprised of white roses and swansonia.

Miss LaNola Meyers served as her sister's maid-of-honor. She wore a marquisette gown of pastel blue fashioned with a three tiered skirt with lace insertions. Her shoulder length veil was attached to a halo. She carried a pastel arm bouquet.

Junior bridesmaid was Miss Josephine Meyers, sister of the bride. Her pink marquisette gown was styled exactly as that of the maid of honor's. Her arm bouquet was in pastel shades

Howard D. Roth of Cleveland acted as Mr. Kramb's best man. Ushers were William Green and Robert Gray of Cleveland.

Mother of the bride wore a navy blue sheer crepe frock with matching accessories. Mrs. Kramb wore a frosty blue gown with white accessories. Both corsages were of Talisman roses.

Imediately after the ceremony a reception for 60 guests was held at the home of the bride's mother.

After a wedding trip through eastern Pennsylvania, the newly married couple will reside at 1857 East 85th street in Cleveland. For traveling, the bride wore a navy blue suit, navy picture hat and other accessories in navy and white.

The new Mrs. Kramb is the daughter of Mrs A. H. Meyers, 559 West Fourth street. She graduated from the Mansfield Senior high school. She is a secretary of the Nestle's Milk Products company.

Mr. Kramb is employed at the Ernst and Ernst company as an accountant. He is a graduate of Ohio State university. Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Kramb of Oak Harbor are his parents.

Out of town guests at the wedding were from Cleveland, Oak Harbor, Shelby, Seville, Akron, Columbus, Ashland, Creston and Perrysville.

How to Wear Make-Up In Summertime

By MME. QUI VIVE

It is the ambition of the chic summer girl to look cool, crisp and collected. She's smart enough to know that too heavy a layer of synthetic blush will make her appear to have a temperature of 104. She may be clever enough to chuck the rouge during daylight hours, indulge in a bit of coloring only in the evening when the bright lights are likely to make her look pale.

The more natural one looks, the more appealing one is, these practical days. That doesn't mean that artifice should be dispensed with, only that it should be restrained and applied so skillfully that it is deceiving. You can't get that effect by buying makeup items haphazardly or by putting them on in slap-dash fashion. One has to use the head, a strong mirror and a good light.

You are still entitled to carry lustrous red lips. At night you can shadow your lids, a delightful, romantic indulgence. We trust that you will be fussy with the lip pigment, form a clear-cut outline and, if you lap off spots with your soup or sandwich, that you will hie yourself to some secluded spot and put your face all together again. Patchy lip coloring is one of the commonest beauty misdemeanors.

Putting on eye shadows call for practice. Select a faint shade—blue, green or blue-green. The bronzes, browns and greys seldom prove enhancing. A good substitute is a light film of carmine, that makes the eyes look sparkling and dewy. Dewy eyes have grand reputations for attracting the attention and admiration of the stern and growly sex.

As the skin gets more golden because of contact with sunlight it is often wise to select rouge of orange-red, lipstick of darker and redder tones. The blonde, if she hunts far and wide, may find a rouge of soft, dusty rose tint; it looks well on a fair skin that has gone slightly golden.

These are suggestions Each case is an individual problem.

In the midst of heat and humidity one tends to assume the neatly brushed, lightly powdered, freshlwy bathed look. The girl whose tresses have gone to the chopping block, and whose head is a mass of short curls is the one who will look and feel cool.

You can find waterproof makeup that will safely go in swimming or go out dancing and still stick by you. Follow directions carefully. If you use a foundation cosmetic, friction it in until it disappears.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

"I don't know how my father will manage it," I continued, "but you may be sure he has something in mind which will keep Ruth Hayes from suspecting that her plan is not working according to schedule. Unless, of course, she tries to get you to come into her room with her. In that case, interference will be quick and effective. But al lthose details must be left to my father. I know nothing more to tell you. Be at my apartment about seven, or a little after, tomorrow morning—I shall have to leave, myself, at seven-thirty—dressed for the street, and carrying this empty bag and your purse, of course. My father will give you all other instructions."

"I'll be there," Olina said, and seeing her mother look at her sharply, I knew that she had heard, as I had, the excited lilt in her daughter's voice which revealed how thrilled she was at the prospect of this adventure.

"And I'll be there to welcome you," I told her, rising.

Madge Departs.

"I really must go back," I said. "I have work to do."

"Then we mustn't keep you," Olga said, smiling, "although you know how reluctantly I always let you go."

They all went with me to the door, and as I left them, I heard Olina's voice as the door closed.

"Oh! Maman! Papa Veritzen! What an exciting adventure!"

She was young enough to get a real thrill out of the experience, I told myself, then reminded myself with amusement that I was every bit as excited and thrilled as Olina over the prospective melodrama of the next day.

I schooled my face and manner to composure however, as I alighted from the elevator at my floor, and saw my husband walking ahead of me toward our door.

"Dicky" I called softly, and he turned and looked at me with eyebrows grotesquely elevated.

"So this is what I find," he said, "when I fly on the wings of the wind to answer a summons from my spouse! Instead of her waiting rapturously at home to welcome me, I find her gallivanting around the corridors of this holstery, and that's a two dollar word, I'll have you know. Where have you been, Woman? Answer me!"

He had slipped his hand under my elbow when he had come up to me, and was walking me swiftly toward our own door. Almost breathless with the rapid gait and delighted laughter, I released myself as we came toward the door, and gave a signaling knock.

"If you'll ever stop talking," I told him, as Katharine opened the door, "I'll tell you everything."

"You bet you'll tell me all." he threatened darkly, "or there'll be ructions in the Graham family which will take blue ribbons in the ruction line."

"Will you two stop squabbling and get in here?" Katharine greeted us. Then closing the door again, she added: "You're altogether too early, Dicky. You weren't expected for a half hour, and it lacks ten minutes of that time."

He gave her a deeply reproachful look.

"Ee tu, Bruta, or whatever is the feminine of Brutus," he said. "Here I run my little legs off to get here ahead of time, and my wife has sneaked off to see somebody behind my back, and her friend reproaches me for getting here too soon. Looks to me as if you two were in cahoots about something."

Advice from Katharine.

"I'm not," Katharine assured him, "but your wife and your father-in-law are, and you will be shortly. Suppose you close that good-looking mouth of yours, and let your wife tell you what's up."

He raised both hands high above his head.

"Don't shoot!" he said. "I'll do anything you say, I know when I'm licked."

I pushed forward a chair, and took one myself. "Sit down," I said. "Yes, smoke, and I'll tell you what Father has on hand."

Rapidly I sketched the emergency which had developed in the last hour, the demand for Olina to get money by a supposed note from Georges and deliver it to a woman at a downtown hotel, and the change in my father's plans which would make it unnecessary for Katharine to keep the rendezvous at the Myers apartment, but which might bring Ruth Hayes to the Lansfield in an endeavor to see Katharine or me.

"I'd like to see her try it!" Dicky announced truculently.

"That's just what Father wishes you to do," I said.

HOROSCOPE

For Wednesday, June 23

According to the predominant lunar aspects, bearing rule on the affairs of this day, all may not be plain sailing. There are signs of delays, obstacles or other frustrating conditions. However, by the exercise of good judgment success and needed cooperation may be gained and much enduring headway won against obstacle and disappointment. The personal slant may have something to do with this fortunate turn of events.

Those whose birthday it is may be confronted by a set of circumstances which may challenge their ability to rise above obstacles. Decisive but shrewd action may be called for and it may not be amiss to utilize judiciously the personal element.

A child born on this day may have to forcefully manipulate its practical and constructive ability and energies to overcome certain depressing, delaying and frustrating conditions. Its personality and strength of character should be exercised for success.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

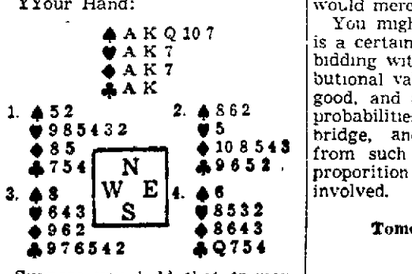
By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

FIND A NON-GAME BID

After you have opened the auction with a game-strength suit bid of two and your partner has responded with 2-No Trumps, it will pay you ordinarily to make a second round call of some kind which is a non-game bid, if you can soundly. That enables your partner, who already has proclaimed lack of high card strength, to show a long suit, which may prove the best declaration, and which you may be able to raise soundly to a slam.

YYour Hand:



Suppose you held that tremendous hand, which is reported as actually dealt in a rubber game in Merrill, Wis. Joe A. Chilsen, who tells the story, says the holder of it bid 2-Spades, the partner 2-No Trumps and the original bidder then 3-No Trumps, which closed the auction. What the play developed is not reported.

That second bid of the holder, 3-No Trumps, was not good bridge. His call should have been 3-Spades, not only because it gives more information, but because it gives the partner, who holds no high card strength, a chance to show distribution.

Suppose you held any of the four hands shown below it, and your partner bid 2-Spades and, after your 2-No Trumps, called 3-No Trumps. You would pass. But if his second bid was 3-Spades, you would bid 4-Hearts with No. 1, and he then 6-Hearts: you might even make a grand slam. With No. 2, you would bid 4-Spades, and he 6-Spades. With No. 3, your call would be 4-Clubs and his 6-Clubs With No. 4, you would merely call 3-No Trumps.

You might comment that there is a certain amount of risk to the bidding with No. 2, as the distributional values might not be that good, and also with No. 3. But probabilities are what you play in bridge, and the probable gain from such bidding is out of all proportion to the very slight risk involved.
